George D. Stoddard, president

I am happy to send greetings to Illini through the courtesy of The Illio.

The past year has seen the realization of some of our plans—and also of some of our fears. The world is not at peace. Increasingly our efforts are going into programs related to the national defense. Through research programs, through the training of vital personnel, particularly in the fields of the medical and associated sciences, and through our general education program, the University of Illinois is contributing directly to national security.

With the approval of the leaders of the armed forces, the University has encouraged students to enter as freshmen and to stay as long as possible before being inducted for military service. We have also broadened the base of our Reserve Officers Training Corps. In fact, the University of Illinois has one of the largest and most comprehensive Officers Training Corps programs available in the United States.

We have been fortunate in receiving an appropriation of funds with which to build a new Dentistry-Medicine-Pharmacy Building on the Chicago Professional Colleges campus. This addition will enable us to increase substantially our student body. The need for doctors, dentists, pharmacists and nurses, emphasized tremendously by the period of urgency, made this building a top priority project. Also, plans have been advanced to begin work on student and staff housing for the Professional Colleges campus.

Work has been begun on the housing project in Urbana for men students. This building, which it is expected will be completed some time in 1952, will provide facilities for approximately 300 students.

The University is recognizing fully its responsibilities to the nation. At the same time, we are aware of our responsibilities for the best possible education of our youth. During the World War II period and immediately after, the University experienced a tremendous growth and a concurrent need for expansion of facilities. Today we face much the same problem.

We shall continue to work to expand these facilities. We shall try to improve the quality of our teaching in all areas. We are aware that whether the times be normal or abnormal, we must offer to youth the best in educational opportunity for they will become the support and substance of the nation.

Illini throughout the world can be proud to know that their Alma Mater is in the front ranks in the deepening struggle to preserve liberty.

The University of Illinois

A great university is a collection of colleges, schools, divisions, institutes, bureaus, services, and experiment stations. In some respects each is autonomous, yet they must work together, and certain services must provide for all. To tie this organization together and make it function as a unit, and at the same time to look ahead and plan for the future, is the task of the University's administration.

Since the war the University of Illinois has doubled in student enrollment and has grown similarly in its research and service activities. With this growth in size has come a growth in administration.

A great university's operation is as complex as a great industry. Functioning in the interest of the citizens and financed largely by tax funds from them, the University must seek efficiency, yet must never lose sight of its purpose in education, research, and service. It must be flexible to meet immediate problems, yet keep focused on long-range values.

The University's work is carried on not only in classroom, laboratory, and library, but also through extension, demonstrations, publications, motion pictures, and radio. From its researches the University develops much new knowledge and gathers information from all over the world. These new facts, added to the old, go not only into teaching, but are made available to citizens everywhere. The University touches almost every field of human interest and activity from archeology and classics to the arts, government, health, agriculture, business, engineering, and science.

Carrying out these policies and directly administering the University is the task of the President. Assisting him are the Provost, the Vice President in charge of the Chicago Division, the Deans and Directors of the various units at Champaign-Urbana, the Comptroller, the Director of the Physical Plant, the Dean of Students, and others, each with special responsibilities and duties.

The Trustees of the University, nine elected directly by the people of the state and two ex-officio by reasons of their positions in the state government, select the President of the University and direct the general policies of administration.

University of Illinois Foundation

Established in 1935, the University of Illinois Foundation is a non-profit corporation organized under the laws of Illinois. Its chief function is to encourage gifts, from both individuals and corporations, for the purpose of assisting the general educational and research program of the University.

One phase of this activity is the Illini Achievement Fund, organized in December, 1948, as a permanent annual-gift program in the interests of the University. In 1949 the Achievement Fund set a new record among Big Ten schools, and among all midwestern state universities, for the number of gifts to such a program during its first year. Contributions were received from 5,071 Illini and other friends of the University of Illinois. More than $200,000 was contributed to the Achievement Fund during the three-year period from January, 1949, through December, 1951.

Another function of the Foundation is the development of patents assigned to it by the University. Acting in this capacity, the Foundation has acquired patent rights on several inventions, notably a smokeless furnace and an ammoniated dentifrice that helps to combat tooth decay.

The Foundation has a membership of one hundred persons, most of whom are alumni of the University. The present Board of Directors, consisting of nine members, is made up of John H. Armstrong, President of the Foundation, Champaign; H. F. Glair, Vice-President, Chicago; President George D. Stoddard, of the University of Illinois; H. B. Megran, Harvard; George Donoghue, Chicago; Eugene D. Funk, Jr., Bloomington; Park Livingston, Chicago; Harold A. Pogue, Decatur; and Amos H. Watts, Chicago.

The University of Illinois Alumni Association

The Alumni Association is the official bond between the University and Illini in all parts of the world.

The Association publishes Illinois Alumni News and sends it to nearly 70,000 Illini. It helps with alumni placement, assists officers with the work of an increasingly large number of Illini clubs, helps maintain the Illini Center in Chicago's LaSalle Hotel, and performs hundreds of personal services for alumni.

It has a large staff gathering and recording the new addresses of nearly 90,000 Illini. Some 7,000 address changes are made every month.

It has produced sound motion pictures in color, to show alumni various campus scenes and activities, the most recent of the films being one about the famous playing, marching, singing Illinois football band.

In its work to help Illini clubs in many parts of the country its executives have met with scores of Illini groups, have made talks about campus affairs and have shown football movies and other Illinois films.

Membership in the Association has grown until it is one of the largest in the United States. Harold Pogue of Decatur is president, and C. E. Bowen of Champaign is executive director. William H. Rice is field director and James C. Colvin is editor of the Alumni News.

The University of Illinois recognizes its responsibility for students living in the academic community and attempts to provide the most favorable conditions for them. Under Dean of Students Fred H. Turner, who is the unifying and coordinating official, are Associate Dean Harold S. Dawson, director of placement, and Assistant Dean Arthur Hamilton, in charge of foreign students.

Miriam A. Shelden, Dean of Women, has as her assistants Miss Agnes Tandberg, assistant dean of freshmen; Miss Eunice Dowse, residence hall counselor; Miss Mary Harrison, advisor to independent women and the Women's Group System; and Miss Mary Jane Klein, advisor to sorority women and Panhellenic Council.

The staff of the Dean of Men, Edward E. Stafford, includes Mr. Gerald W. Peck, assistant dean of men and director of Placement Bureau; Mr. V. J. Hampton, assistant dean of student activities; Mr. George H. Bargh, assistant dean of fraternity men; Mr. Richard E. The Armed Forces

Capt. Oscar H. Dodson, Col. Melton A. Hatch, Col. Harvey Davidson

The Morrill Land Grant Act established the Corps of Cadets at the University of Illinois in 1868. This legislation provided public land to the state for colleges which offered courses in agriculture and mechanical arts on the condition that military science be offered. Present University policy requires that male students must complete two years' training in the Army, Navy, or Air Force ROTC programs. The present enrollment in the program is 4310, one of the largest in the country.

The Army is organized into a Brigade, including 27 companies. Nine separate Ground Force branches are represented by 21 army officers and 22 regular army enlisted men.

Regular students in the Naval Unit are selected through examinations and receive a four year scholarship to the university or college of their choice. Contract students enter into a contract with the government to take Naval Science courses. Regular Midshipmen are commissioned in the Regular Navy, and Contract Midshipmen in the Naval Reserve.

The Air Force is organized into a Wing, with 19 squadrons. Cadets now have four options in Air Force science—aircraft maintenance, administration and logistics, flight operations, and general technicals.

Graduates of the four year program in the Army and Air Force are commissioned in the reserves.

ROTC Executive and Teaching Staff

College of Agriculture

In September 1952, Dean Henry P. Rusk retires after forty-two years of service to the College of Agriculture. He joined the staff in 1910 as an assistant in animal husbandry and became Dean and Director in 1939. He has served as Chairman of the Agricultural Task Force of the Hoover Commission on Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Government, as a member of the Executive Committee of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, and as Chairman of the Agricultural Division of the same organization. Honorary doctor degrees have been bestowed upon Dean Rusk by three institutions—Purdue University, the University of Missouri, and Illinois Wesleyan—in recognition of his leadership and contributions to agriculture.

To prepare men and women for successful careers and leadership in agriculture and home economics, the College of Agriculture offers many courses in these two fields which have in common an interest in the production, processing, distribution, and use of food and clothing. These technical courses, vitalized by the work of the Experiment Station, are integrated with the basic sciences and humanities to equip graduates to work for better farming and better living for both rural and urban people.

College of Commerce and Business Administration

Dean Paul Green

The College of Commerce and Business Administration has four major divisions—the Department of Business Organization and Operation, the Department of Economics, the Bureau of Economic and Business Research, and the Business Management Service.

The main function of the two departments is to offer a well-rounded program of courses which will prepare students for satisfying individual lives and effective citizenship, as well as for careers in business, economics, and the administrative branches of government. A broad curriculum combines basic and general training with opportunities for concentration at the upper class level in accountancy; commerce and law; commercial teaching; economics of public utilities, transportation, government, and business; economic theory; finance; general economics; industrial administration; insurance; labor economics; management; marketing; personnel management; secretarial training; and statistical economics.

The Bureau of Economic and Business Research administers an organized research program. Its findings are published in special monographs and in two journals—(1) Illinois Business Review, a monthly summary of business conditions for Illinois, and (2) Current Economic Comment, issued quarterly.

David Kinley Hall

College of Education

The College of Education prepares students for careers in teaching, special educational services, and school administration. Special undergraduate programs are offered in industrial, agricultural, home economics, and elementary education, and in education of the deaf and hard of hearing and education of the mentally handicapped.

Students preparing for other teaching fields take certain basic courses in education and the remainder of their work in other colleges and schools of the University under the Council on Teacher Education.

The University High School serves as a laboratory for the College of Education and affords opportunities for experimentation under controlled conditions. Students of the College also participate as teachers or observers in other laboratory classes conducted at the University. In addition, as seniors, they are assigned under a "professional semester" to certain selected schools of the State for six weeks' practical experience in their chosen area of teaching.

Under the College of Education, the Bureau of Research and Service carries on original investigations in the field of education as well as service to the schools of the state. The latter may be in the form of schools surveys, consultation, in-service training for teachers, or publications.

College of Engineering

Dean W. L. Everitt

The College of Engineering stresses four aims—aiding students to think clearly and accurately, giving them the fundamentals of sound engineering, encouraging the development of initiative and individuality, and affording opportunities for students to put into effect the doctrine that one of the engineer's main functions is to contribute to effective practical action.

Tied in with the teaching of both undergraduate and graduate students is much of the research carried on through the Engineering Experiment Station. It has published more than 400 bulletins and 65 circulars. Research projects now under way total more than 75, many of these being for the defense effort.

The College was organized in 1870 as the Polytechnic Division and offered four courses of study. During the 1890's many new departments were established, and five have been added since.

Extra-curricular activities have always been prominent. A dozen student professional societies are active. There are also eight honor fraternities organized primarily to recognize and promote scholarship.

Dean of the College of Engineering is W. L. Everitt. He came to the University of Illinois as head of the department of electrical engineering eight years ago, with a nation-wide reputation as a teacher, research scientist, and administrator. He was made dean in 1949.

College of Fine and Applied Arts

Housed in parts of sixteen campus structures, the College of Fine and Applied Arts this year enrolled thirteen hundred professional students. Entering its twentieth year, the College is comprised of the Departments of Art, Architecture, and Landscape Architecture, the School of Music, the Bureau of Community Planning, and the University Bands. There are twelve curricula leading to degrees in various fields of the Fine Arts. In addition to its formal program of instruction, the College offers numerous admission-free lectures, concerts, recitals, and a series of art exhibits displayed in the Architecture Building. In cooperation with other campus departments, the College annually sponsors a Festival of Contemporary Arts. The faculty numbers 160 full-time members.

Students from many other colleges of the University select formal cultural courses offered by the College of Fine and Applied Arts, or take part in the musical organizations or other extra-curricular activities that the College fosters.

Rexford Newcomb, Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, has served the University for a third of a century. He is the first dean of the College which he organized twenty years ago. He is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architecture and a member of various honorary and professional societies.

Graduate College

Acting Dean Frederick T. Wall

Graduate instruction at the University of Illinois began in 1902, but a Graduate School with a separate faculty and administration was first organized in 1906. David Kinley, later President of the University, was the first Graduate Dean. His statement of the essential aim of a graduate college has been adhered to through the years: "The development of the power of independent work and the promotion of the spirit of research."

After its founding, the College grew steadily in size and prestige, but the most phenomenal growth in the scope of its activities and in the size of its enrollment has occurred since the end of World War II. In 1951, 3954 students were enrolled in the Graduate College, which is now the second largest in the University. During the academic year 1950-51, it provided for 175 University fellowships. During the same year, 230 Ph.D degrees and 1494 Masters degrees were granted.

The Acting Dean of the Graduate College is Professor Frederick T. Wall of the Department of Chemistry. Dean Wall is aided in the graduate office by Assistant Dean Burton A. Milligan, of the Department of English, and Helen M. Hay, Assistant to the Dean.

School of Journalism and Communications

Instruction in journalism was first introduced to the University of Illinois under the sponsorship of Thomas Arkle, a member of the English Department, fifty years ago. The School of Journalism, as such, was founded in 1927, just twenty-five years ago.

Where, in the early years, instruction was limited to the writing arts, today the school has broadened its scope to include three major divisions—news-editorial, advertising and radio.

With the increasing emphasis on the role of the mass media in society today, the scope of studies has been enlarged. In 1950 the name of the school was changed to School of Journalism and Communications. Instruction on the graduate level has known a steady growth until today the school offers not only a master of science degree in journalism, but plays a major part in training candidates for the Ph.D. degree in mass communications.

None of this, however, has been done at the expense of those seeking a solid training for immediate placement in the working field. At all times the school maintains close liaison with the working press, with radio and with the advertising fields. Every effort is maintained to insure that graduates will be able to assume responsible positions in their chosen fields.

Dean Fredrick Siebert

College of Law

Dean Albert Harno

The primary purpose of the College of Law is to train men and women for the practice of law. This training, however, is also of value to those who become judges, teachers of law, legislators, business executives, or government administrators. In a broader context, the College aims to provide a part of the educational foundation for men and women who will become leaders in community service and directors of public thought. A student who has had a thorough legal training is necessarily steeped in the truth that there can be no democracy without justice, and no freedom without law.

The College of Law was established in 1897. Since that time two national accrediting agencies for law schools have been organized, the Association of American Law Schools and the Section of Legal Education of the American Bar Association. The College has been on the approved lists of these agencies from the first. It has not been content, though, to meet the minimum standards; it has ever been alert to exceed these standards and has been a pioneer for improved legal education and for higher standards of admission to the bar in the United States.

Altgeld Hall

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Our University was incorporated in 1867 as the Illinois Industrial University. When instruction began in 1868, typical Liberal Arts courses were offered, looked upon then as now as basic in general or liberal education. The present organization of the College came in 1913 as the result of a merger of the College of Literature and Arts with the College of Science. As an outgrowth of this fusion, the College became the largest and most complex division of the University. The complexity is increased by the fact that the College serves a great many purposes. It is the bearer of the old tradition of liberal education cared for in the General Curriculum and also in the Division of General Studies. The General Curriculum leads to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science depending upon the field of concentration and emphasis of study. The College also functions as a service unit for other colleges offering fixed curricula in pre-professional training for nursing, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, law, and journalism. This training includes such work in English, foreign languages, science, and social science as constitutes established all-university or special college requirements.

In cooperation with the College of Medicine, the College offers a professional course in occupational therapy leading to a degree in the College of Medicine.

Library School

The University of Illinois Library School, established in 1893, is the oldest library school west of the Alleghenies. This school was located at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago until the summer of 1897 when it was moved to the University of Illinois in Urbana, where it is now situated on the third floor of the library.

The purpose of the Library School is to prepare administrators and assistants for service in public libraries, in libraries of schools, colleges and universities, and for such specialized types as agriculture, architecture, chemistry, engineering, business, law, medicine, and music libraries.

Both graduate and undergraduate programs of study are offered by the school. The undergraduate Library Science courses prerequisite for admission to the professional courses in the Library School are offered as a minor in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Education. The fifth year's work for the M.S. in L.S. Degree is the minimum academic preparation for professional librarianship. Students who aim for higher level positions and who possess the necessary qualifications may go on for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Library Science.

The Library School is fully accredited by the American Library Association and is rated as one of the five leading schools in the field.

School of Physical Education

The School of Physical Education, established in 1933, is comprised of two major departments: Physical Education for Men and Physical Education for Women. The School serves two major functions.

First, it provides professional training in five lines of service: physical education for men, physical education for women, health education for both men and women, recreation for both men and women, and dance for women.

Second, the school conducts a service program in physical education for all University students, who, by University regulation, are required to secure four semesters credit in this subject.

Seward Staley, Director of the School of Physical Education, graduated from Springfield College in 1917, secured a M.S. Degree at Clark University in 1920, and secured a Ph.D. Degree at the University of Illinois in 1929. Director Staley joined the staff of the University of Illinois in 1922; in 1937, he was appointed director of the school and has served in that capacity since that date.

To carry on its work, the school has available five buildings: the George Huff Gymnasium, the Men's Old Gymnasium, the Gymnasium Annex, the Women's Gymnasium, and Bevier Hall.

Division of Special Services for War Veterans

Acting Director Frank A. Bridgewater

The Division of Special Services for War Veterans has been established to give the greatest service to veterans who wish to come to the University of Illinois. It is a pioneering educational venture, breaking traditional educational policies and allowing for an educational freedom which will best serve the needs of individual students.

The Division offers veterans an opportunity to re-orient themselves academically through refresher work, reduced programs, and selection of courses; to move directly toward an educational objective by adding appropriate subjects to previously acquired credits; to attain an educational objective which involves subject matter offered in several colleges. The Division administers the educational programs of veterans whose special needs are not met by existing matter offered in several colleges. The Division administers the educational programs of veterans whose special needs are not met by existing curricula, and can certify such students for the Bachelor of Science degree. In addition, the Division studies the needs of returning veterans and informs the veterans of all the various services of the University.

Armory

Division of University Extension

The Division of University Extension is, like the Graduate College, an all-University organization charged with "extending" the educational resources of the University to persons not enrolled for study in residence. Like the Graduate College, its faculty is drawn from the faculties of the other colleges and schools, and the Division is composed of those members of the teaching departments who give such instruction, together with a small administrative staff.

During the past year, 7,498 students enrolled in extramural classes conducted in 64 Illinois communities; 4,904 were registered in short courses and conferences; and 2,082 pursued their studies by correspondence. The Summer Session enrolled 7,785 students at Urbana and Chicago.

The student body of both the Division of University Extension and the Summer Session is drawn from not only the 48 states of the Union and from its territories, but from many foreign lands as well.

Mr. Browne has been in charge of University Extension since the Division was established in 1933, and has been Dean of the Summer Session since 1938.

College of Veterinary Medicine

Dean Robert Graham

The College of Veterinary Medicine trains veterinarians in the prevention and control of animal diseases to protect the livestock industry and to safeguard public health through the suppression of animal diseases communicable to man.

Established in 1944, the College initiated a two-year preveterinary program in September, 1945, and a four-year professional program in September, 1948. The first class of twenty-four veterinarians trained at the College of Veterinary Medicine are being graduated in June, 1952. Awarding of the doctor of Veterinary Medicine degrees marks a milestone in the history of education at the University of Illinois.

A new four-story Veterinary Medicine building for instruction of first- and second-year students and for research was completed early in 1952. Third- and fourth-year clinic courses are being presented temporarily in the remodeled Animal Pathology Laboratory until a new veterinary hospital and clinic building which is now being planned is provided. An 80-acre farm with appropriate buildings for animals is provided by the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station for veterinary research.

Dr. Robert Graham, member of the University of Illinois faculty since 1917, was appointed as the first dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine in 1945.

Chicago Undergraduate Division

Dean Charles C. Cavitny

Since the University of Illinois' Chicago Undergraduate Division was established at Navy Pier in 1946, twenty thousand students have attended this—"University in the Lake."

Complete pre-professional courses of study are offered in liberal arts and sciences, commerce and business administration, and engineering. Professional curricula in architecture, architectural engineering, physical education, and a program leading to a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing are also available. The basic course and two years of the advanced course in ROTC recently have been established for men students.

Excellent instructional facilities are provided in the school's 68 classrooms and 33 modern, fully-equipped laboratories. A 55,000 volume library, food service, well-furnished lounges, and recreational facilities supplement the academic program.

Students enrolled at the Chicago Undergraduate Division have the same status as students matriculating on the Urbana campus and are given priority in completing their work for degrees on the Urbana campus.

The Chicago Undergraduate Division through its educational, social, and cultural program, strives to provide its student body with the same high degree of service which has been so long a part of University of Illinois tradition.

Bronze Tablet

Election to Bronze Tablet is the highest scholastic honor awarded to seniors at the University of Illinois.

A senior who has been in the upper three per cent of his class in his respective college during his junior and senior years is entitled to have his name inscribed on the Bronze Tablet. This means he must have received Junior and Senior Honors.

High scholarship maintained throughout any one of the four years at the University is awarded by College Honors. Seniors may also qualify for University Honors if they have earned College Honors twice and have maintained a scholastic average for their first seven semesters equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student recently chosen for University Honors from their college under the preceding qualifications.

Senior transfer students who have not been at the University for four semesters before graduation may achieve University Honors if their average for the past three semesters is equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student currently elected to Bronze Tablet. The average of their transferred credits for the year before they transferred must also be equal to the average needed for University Honors.

A special University of Illinois Scholarship Key is given to the recipients of University Honors.

Student Senate

The Student Senate officially represents the student body. The most important purposes of the Student Senate are to promote the general welfare of the student body and to exercise general policy making authority over student affairs with the Committee on Student Affairs.

The Student Senate is composed of thirty-four members. Eighteen are elected in a general election in the spring by the entire student body. The major campus activities and housing groups are represented by the remaining sixteen who are ex-officio members.

Any student is free to sponsor legislation by pre-sending it in appropriate written form, and all students are welcome to attend Student Senate meetings and may speak before the group.

By-laws, Finance, Public Relations, International Activities, Student Life, and Coordination are permanent committees of the Senate. The Student Life committee concerns itself chiefly with general campus welfare. The Coordination Committee is primarily responsible for minimizing conflicts and helping relieve undue competition in the presentation of public entertainment events by the various housing groups.

Established by the Committee on Student Affairs, and the Student Senate, the Coordination Committee is now in its fourth year of active service.

The functions of the Coordination Committee are concerned chiefly with budgets for general University functions, which include supervision of the printing, auditing, and issuing of tickets, and the distributing of complimentary tickets. They also recommend approval or rejection of petitions for events or activities of organizations. The setting of the time, place, and date of the event or activity is supervised by the Coordination Committee and subject to final jurisdiction of the Committee on Student Affairs.

Organizations which are affected by the Coordination Committee are the Illini Board of Control, Illini Theatre Guild, men's athletics, women's athletics, Illini Union, Concert and Entertainment Board, Campus Chest, Freshman Council, and the housing groups.

The membership of the Coordination Committee includes eight senators, one representative from each of the housing groups, the Illini Union, Theatre Guild, and the Concert and Entertainment Board, and one elected senator who serves as the chairman. Two faculty representatives from the Committee on Student Affairs, and an assistant from the Dean of Men's office are the committee's remaining members.

Coordination Committee

Standing: Richard Minor, chairman; Emil Klingenfus, Prof. Hugh Wales, Dean Hampton, Prof. Walter Johnson
Seated: Dean Bussart, Stuart DeVore, Shirley Dreuth, Ora Mae Welcher, William North, Robert Cenek

The Senior Class is represented directly in the Student Senate by three class officers and three senators who serve as the link between the class and student government. In addition to their work in the Senate, the officers supervise all class activities and sponsor the Senior Ball.

Seniors who hold major positions of the Senate are Eugene Blanchard, president of the Senate; Richard Minor, chairman of Coordination Committee; Richard Rodgers, chairman of Student Life Committee; Oscar Ehrenberg, chairman of Elections and Personnel; and John Biggers, chairman of Council of College Councils Committee.

Senior Class

Standing: Eugene Blanchard, senator; John Biggers, secretary-treasurer; Richard Rodgers, senator; Richard Minor, senator Seated: Paul Riggins, vice president; Richard McFarland, president

*Standing: Dean Clabaugh, senator; William Jewell, vice president; James Edwards, senator
Seated: Lois Gualano, senator; Thorpe Wright, president
Not in panel: Charlotte Herlinger, secretary-treasurer*

Junior Class

Training to be the future leaders on campus are the juniors, headed by the junior class officers. The three officers and the three senators direct the work of the junior class in the Student Senate.

Juniors of the Senate who hold responsible positions are James Edwards, vice-president of the Senate, and chairman of By-Laws Committee; Thorpe Wright, By-Laws Committee and chairman of Activity Night; and Dean Clabaugh, treasurer of the Senate, and chairman of Finance Committee.

Early this fall, the Senate elected juniors James Edwards and Thorpe Wright as Illinois' delegates to the Big Ten Student Government Conference.

Standing: Thomas Rose, vice president; Judith Hoffman, senator; Stephen Wolfberg, senator
Seated: Charles Goodhue, president; Patricia Robinson, secretary-treasurer
Not in panel: Jerry Felmley, senator

The Sophomore Class is represented in the Student Senate by three class officers and three senators. In addition to their work in the Senate, the sophomore class officers supervise all class activities.

Some of the more important positions held by the sophomores in the Senate include: Patricia Robinson, secretary of the Senate; Thomas Rose, assistant chairman of Student Life; Thomas Rose and Charles Goodhue, Committee for Substantive Changes to the Student Code; Stephen Wolfberg, chairman of the Faculty Rating Committee, and a member of the Election and Personnel Committee; and Jerry Felmley, Finance Committee.

Sophomore Class

Freshman Council

The official representative body of the Freshman Class is the Freshman Council. The Council is made up of ten regular members and three alternates. These members are chosen by petition and interview by a committee of the Student Senate.

The chief duties of the Council are to promote class cooperation and unity in order to further the interests of the class as a group.

The most important projects of the Council throughout the year include various programs of orientation, and the now annual Freshman Talent Day, highlighted by the selection of a Freshman Queen.

Standing: Robert Hodam, vice chairman; Patti Ryden, treasurer; John McCarthy, parliamentarian; Judith Hoggatt, secretary; Benjamin Borowsky, Gordon Rapp, Jennis Bapst, Thomas Rowader

All University Forum

Since 1944 the All University Forum has offered programs of speeches and panel discussions of subjects that are of current interest to Illini students.

The All University Forum committee, consisting of six students and six faculty members and headed by Professor Cleary, makes arrangements for the lectures and selects speakers on the basis of their positions in their respective fields.

This year the subject chosen for the panel discussion was "Does Modern Art Make Sense?" With George V. Denny, Jr. as moderator, the discussion featured Thomas Hart Benton, former Director of Painting, Kansas City Art Institute; Perry T. Rathbone, Director of the Art Museum of St. Louis; and Stuart Davis, nationally known artist.

The lectures are free to students and public and are supported by the general University fund.

Robert Aura Smith, renowned New York Times editorial writer and political scientist, spoke on "The Psychology of Betrayal".

Marguerite Higgins, famed woman war correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, spoke on "The Terrible Days in Korea". Born in Hongkong, Miss Higgins spent two years with the 7th Army in Austria and has spent much time on the front lines in Korea.

Eric Sevaried, chief Washington correspondent of the Columbia Broadcasting Company, spoke on "Analyzing the News". Winner of the George Foster Peabody award for interpretation and reporting of the news, Sevaried has covered battlefronts on both sides of the globe.

Robert A. Vogeler, American businessman who was imprisoned by the Communist Hungarian Government, spoke on "17 Months of Despair".

Elizabeth Bowen, distinguished Irish-English novelist and short story writer, spoke on "The Novel Today". Miss Bowen began her long and successful career after World War I and is now considered by critics to rank with James and Mansfield as a "writer's writer".

Executive council — Standing: James Hinkle, Sigma Pi; Gerald Felmley, Phi Delta Theta; William Niesen, Theta Chi; Donald Smith, Phi Sigma Kappa; Emil Klingenfus, Lambda Chi Alpha; Arthur Stoddard, Chi Psi; Edward Middleton, Sigma Phi Delta, sergeant-at-arms; Richard Hanes, Delta Tau Delta, treasurer; Robert Corley, Lambda Chi Alpha, secretary; George Heck, Pi Kappa Alpha

The Interfraternity council is the governing and supervisory body of all social fraternities at the University. It formulates and administers interfraternity policies regarding the general welfare, social, scholastic, and recreational activities of the member fraternities.

Supervising the Interfraternity council is Dean George Bargh, assistant dean of men for fraternities, who has occupied this position since September, 1950. An advisory board, the Board of Fraternity affairs, also works with the council. This board is composed of three staff fraternity men, three local fraternity alumni, and five undergraduate officers of the council.

The Illinois council is composed of fifty-six national fraternities and thus is the largest as well as oldest such group in the country. Each fraternity is represented by a junior and senior representative. Regular weekly meetings and committee meetings provide the setting for getting acquainted and disseminating constructive ideas for fraternity operation. Various activities may be attributed to the council through its officers and committees. The council functions are effected by the actions of the following committees: activities, judicial, pledge training, scholarship, house managers, rushing, intramurals, program, public relations, and executive.

Men's Independent Association

Roger Vandervliet, president

*Officers and Advisory board — Standing: Earl Seyler, Oscar Ehrenberg, Richard Hulet, Joseph Ewers, Stuart DeVore
Seated: John Marshall, Roger Vandervliet, Samuel Kessler, Robert Vinsec
Not in panel: Duane Branigan, Calvin Sifferd, Herbert Forbert, Charles Bowmen*

The University of Illinois Men's Independent association is the representative body for the independent men on campus. Established and administered by students, it organizes these men and enables them, through united effort, to influence formulation of policies affecting student welfare. The MIA includes and represents all independent men on campus through organization of all houses with four or more residents. One representative is sent from each such residence to the MIA council. This council is the policy-making body for the group and decides all issues of major importance. The officers and committee chairmen of MIA comprise the Directorate, which is the Association's executive body.

Incentives and opportunities for independents in all fields of student activity are provided by MIA. It awards trophies for scholastic achievements, aids student participation in sports, and encourages its members to leadership in the organization's varied recreational program. In its almost quarter century of activity, the MIA has been a constructive force in the establishment of University Health insurance, the Student Employment office, the Housing Division, and many other programs. MIA is also an active member of the National Independent Students association, and last year with the cooperation of the Women's Group system won the NISA award for the best independent student publication in the nation.

Panhellenic is the governing and policy-making body of all the sororities at the University of Illinois. It strives to bring about a closer friendship between sororities and also between the sororities and independent associations. It works to further high intellectual accomplishment and create sound scholarship among its members.

The president's council, composed of chapter presidents; and the executive council, composed of Panhellenic officers, the faculty advisor, departmental chairmen, and junior departmental chairmen, form the two governing bodies of Panhellenic. The departments covered by Panhellenic are social, scholarship, rushing, pledge, activity, public relations, and Shi-Ai.

Helping these departmental chairmen are the junior departmental chairmen. It is their job to work with Junior Panhellenic which consists of all sorority pledges. The organization and purpose of Junior Panhellenic is patterned after that of Panhellenic so that its members will become better acquainted with the various functions of the council.

Panhellenic activities include the Fall Scholarship dessert and the Spring banquet, when individual and house scholarship is honored. The council also sponsors the Pledge banquet every fall. One of the biggest events of the school year is the annual Panhellenic ball which the council presents in the fall.

Women's Group System

The Women's Group system is the organization for independent women on the campus. All women living in residence halls and organized houses are voting members of W.G.S. A council of the house presidents of these groups meet to discuss the group's activities, receive announcements of campus events, and take back to their houses any questions needing the opinion of the individual members. The officers, major and district chairmen, and advisors, serve as an executive council which acts as a supervisory and legislative body.

The purposes of the Women's Group system are to be of service to the campus and to encourage high scholarship and activity work among its members.

The freshman advisor's program in W.G.S. gives assistance to each freshman. Through a Freshman board, composed of a freshman girl from each independent house, freshman problems and interests are discussed. The Women's Group system also sponsors various projects such as a displaced student and the adoption of a war orphan. Annual events are the Watcheka sing, Mothers Day luncheon, and scholarship and activity teas at which awards are presented to outstanding houses and individual girls.

In cooperation with Men's Independent association, W.G.S. sponsors the Dads Day Stunt show, an annual dance, and publishes the Indee, a newspaper which is the voice of the independent student.

Panhellenic Ball

Evening in New York was the setting for the Panhellenic ball which was held on Friday, October 19th in Huff gym. Art Mooney's orchestra provided the music for the 2000 guests who attended the event.

A twenty-eight foot replica of the Empire State building with a revolving spotlight highlighted the decorations which included a skyline behind the bandstand. Placed at intervals around the edge of the dance floor were street lamps each showing sign posts with the names of the twenty-six sororities which comprise Panhellenic.

The Chicago Tribune took pictures of the twenty-six "Ideal" sorority girls who were presented to the audience at the intermission.

Senior Ball

A Parisian Garden was the setting for the 1951 Senior ball, held in Huff gym on May 18. Claude Thornhill provided the music for the dancers while Russ Stackhouse played the organ during the intermission.

To carry out the Parisian theme, the decorations committee, headed by James McGurk, used green hanging gardens and bouquets of flowers. The bids, written completely in French with a leaf cutout on the cover, were designed by Agnes Radich.

The entire evening was under the direction of Howard Neuberg, general chairman, and Claireen Molzan, assistant. The publicity was under the supervision of Barbara Kircher. Thomas Brown was arrangements chairman and John Almburg was financial chairman.

Plowboy Prom

Last year William Diamond and Jean Cox were general chairmen of the annual Plowboy Prom. Co-sponsored by the Agriculture and Home Economics clubs, the dance was held in Huff gym on April 27th. Dick Jurgens and his band provided appropriate music for the farm theme.

Everyone came to the dance in farm garb, jeans for the men and gingham for the girls. Each boy made up a vegetable corsage for his date and in turn was rewarded with a picnic lunch prepared by his date. DiAnne Mathre was chosen queen of the day.

All- Ag Field Day

Sanctioned jointly by the Home Economics and Agriculture clubs, the All-Ag Field Day was another success this year. The activities of the day started with a picnic in Illini Grove and continued with contests of skill in the afternoon at Stock Pavilion. Rooster catching, a faculty bubble-blowing contest, and a goat-milking contest were among the events at the Pavilion.

At night the theme of the annual dance was depicted in the "Harvest Hop". Autumn decorations of maple leaves and harvest moons aided everyone in getting the dance spirit.

Mary Briggs and Edwin Libby were chosen as queen and king, respectively, for the day.

Campus Chest

Campus Chest was founded for the convenience of students and faculty by consolidating individual donations for charities into one general contribution. These general contributions are then allocated to selected charities by the recommendations of the Allocation and Advisory board which is composed of representatives from major student organizations on campus.

The annual drive for funds is conducted in the fall and is effected through student housing. These proceeds are supplemented by the entire Spring Carnival profits and by special drives.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y.M.C.A. operates a building whose doors are open to anyone. Its modernly equipped campus center provides comfortable lounges, quiet study rooms, the new Kaeser refreshment and recreation room, a modern darkroom and crafts shop, hometown newspapers and current magazine files, and meeting room facilities.

But the Y.M.C.A. is more than a building. It is an association of students, faculty, and professional staff men. Through more than twenty committees, it serves the campus community, providing members with experience in leading and working with other persons. With the Y.W.C.A. it sponsors a varied program of social recreation. First in the field of freshman orientation many years ago, the "Y" sponsors a wide program for freshmen and is a pioneer and campus leader in its program for international students. The organization is unique in its attempt to make a spiritual life and the Christian ideals vital to students.

Y. W. C. A.

For over sixty-five years the program of the Young Women's Christian Association has provided college women with opportunities to serve in fields ranging from community social service projects to international affairs.

Program activities meet every possible interest so that a successful balance of study and action is achieved. The entire program is based upon the universal "Y" program formula—worship, study, and action. In the field of social service the activities extend beyond the community to Chanute Field, where recreation and crafts groups are sponsored. New students are helped in their orientation, while international students carry on many programs designed to encourage understanding. In addition to these and other year-round programs, Y members sponsor such special events as the Christmas Doll Show, which has received state-wide recognition for its service and uniqueness.

Under the leadership of John Hemwall, editor, and associate editors Mary Jane Corrie, William Soderstrum, and Lois Binder, the 1952 Illio editorial staff has worked together to bring to the student body a reflection of the various phases of life at the University of Illinois.

The assistant editors are in charge of the five sections of the Illio—Activities, Organizations, Sports, Residences, and Seniors. The assistant editors also direct and plan the work of the freshman and sophomore staff members, who do typing and filing, help crop pictures, write copy, and plan layouts.

Each spring the freshmen and sophomores attend a workshop. During this six week period, they receive training in the proper methods of cropping pictures, writing copy, and planning picture layouts.

The 1952 ILLIO business staff, which plans and regulates the budget for the ILLIO, was under the direction of James Dickson, business manager; and his associate managers, John Gillis and Shirley Dreuth.

The ILLIO business staff is divided into three major parts—finance, sales and advertising. Each of these groups is headed by three junior members of the staff. Aiding them are the freshman and sophomore staff members who handle the general office work and the sale of ILLIO subscriptions. It is the job of the advertising department to solicit advertisements for the ILLIO and to advertise the ILLIO itself.

The editorial staff, composed entirely of Illini students, operates like a metropolitan newspaper staff and offers valuable journalistic experience to those who write the copy, edit the national AP wires, and plan the layouts for the pages.

This newspaper, although owned by the Illini Publishing Company, is not connected with University administration and follows the policies which are formed by the student editorial board. The Daily Illini owns its own mechanical department and editorial offices.

Illini Rural Observer

The Illini Rural Observer is a semi-monthly newspaper published by students of the College of Agriculture. Started two years ago, it replaced the Illinois Agriculturist, a student magazine established in 1869.

Offering an excellent opportunity for experience in agricultural journalism and business administration, the Observer brings news of faculty, student and college activities to the university and to agricultural people throughout the state.

Technograph

Each month of the school year, The Illinois Technograph, the student publication of the College of Engineering, is offered to Illini engineering students. The Technograph, now in its 67th year, contains articles of current technical and industrial developments which are of interest to all future engineers.

The Technograph staff, supervised by Henry Kalapaca, is made up of engineering students, and gives them valuable experience in journalism as well as a knowledge of various technical subjects. In addition, the Technograph staff, in cooperation with the Engineering Council, sponsors many engineering activities.

Illini Publishing Company

The Illini Publishing Company is a non-profit corporation chartered by the State of Illinois for the purpose of printing, publishing, and distributing student publications at the University. It operates under a board of control headed by Professor Frank Schooley, chairman; Frank Senger, general manager; and Paul McMichael, business manager. The board is composed of four student and four faculty members, who serve without compensation to help give student publications the best possible printing at minimum cost. Student members are selected for a term of two years from nominees chosen by the Student Senate. Faculty members are appointed by the President of the University upon recommendation of the Dean of Students, and they serve for a period of four years. This group controls the finances and appoints the senior editors and managers for The Daily Illini, the Illio, the Illini Rural Observer, and the Illinois Technograph.

Photographic Staff

Working under the auspices of the Illini Publishing Company, the photo staff handles photographic assignments for four student publications: The Daily Illini, the Illio, the Illini Rural Observer, and the Technograph. Staff members provide their own cameras, but all other equipment is supplied by the IPC. In their new office and dark room in the basement of Illini Hall, the photographers work under the direction of Edward Wojtas, photo chief, and Frank Folena, assistant photo chief. They and the other staff members work in cooperation with editors and staff of each student publication to produce better newspapers, yearbooks, and magazines. In addition to its regular photographic work, the staff also conducts a training program for student photographers, preparing them to assume staff positions the following year.

Illini Theatre Guild

The Illini Theatre Guild offers ample opportunity to gain responsibility and recognition on campus to students interested in any phase of dramatic arts. The Guild carries on an intensive program of theatre training through its major productions and thus offers opportunity not only to actors but also to those interested in costuming, design, construction, publicity, or business. New members of the Guild alternate between these crews in order to gain experience in all fields.

The organizational structure is based upon five levels of managerial positions—the general manager, personnel managers, associate managers, student staff managers, and assistant managers.

These positions are awarded by individual merit as evidenced by interest and past work in the Guild. The executive authority of the Guild is vested in a board of directors.

This year the Guild presented five major productions selected from both contemporary and classical sources. There are three types of workshops: the actors' workshop which gives additional acting and directing experience to more advanced members in the Guild, a showcase workshop which is a proving ground for novice actors, and a workshop for the performance of student-written plays. The Guild also presents a series of plays for the Festival of Contemporary Arts.

Star Course

David Gullette, co-manager

The Star Course is a student organization which is operated on a non-profit basis. It is sponsored and controlled by a student-faculty board, the University Concert and Entertainment board. This board makes all final decisions and supervises the appointment of staff members. In 1891, when Star Course was first organized, it was called the Star Lecture course. It remained under the auspices of the literary societies until in 1931 the University Concert and Entertainment board was organized. Seniors Donna Bonar and David Gullette are the co-managers of Star Course. They work closely with the board, manage finances and direct the work of the office staff. The seniors represent the Star Course on the University Concert and Entertainment board.

Eight junior managers are chosen by the University Concert and Entertainment board on the basis of their interest, scholarship, and work as members of the sophomore staff. The juniors supervise arrangements for publicity, supervise ticket sales, maintain routine correspondence, entertain the artists, and supervise the ushers for all performances. The juniors who perform these jobs are Jack Alpers, James Bunting, Joan Bruder, Rita Evans, Jane Rendleman, Marilyn Szold, Wayne Thomas, and Jack Williams.

The sophomores do office work and usher for all the performances. The sophomores are chosen by the University Concert and Entertainment board.

University Choir

This year the Women's Glee club joined with the Men's Glee club and University choir for a formal Christmas concert. Works included those by Vittorio, Niles, Brahms, and Schubert.

As part of the Festival of Contemporary Arts, the University choir and the Men's and Women's Glee clubs joined again to sing William Walton's "Belshazzar's Feast" with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of Rafael Kubelik.

The University chorus, one of the two choral organizations open to non-students, performed concert selections of Schubert, Bach, and Handel.

The Junior Men's Glee club was organized two years ago and trains voices for the Men's Glee club. This year the group presented its own concert.

Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" and Brahms's "Requiem" were given by the Oratorio society, composed of students, faculty, and townspeople.

Sinfonietta

The University of Illinois sinfonietta is one of the University's top instrumental groups. Membership is limited to the most advanced players on both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

One of its most important functions is to stimulate the performance and enjoyment of fine music. The Sinfonietta presented eight concerts for high school students and their parents this year. These concerts, which are sponsored jointly by the School of Music and the Division of University Extension, take the Sinfonietta to all parts of the state of Illinois.

First violins: Rosemary Malocsay, Peggy Stone, Leonard Samuels, Raymond Williams, Jose Otis, Faye Goldstein, Myrian Baker, Constance Ogan
Second violins: Mathys Abass, Frank Pytlík, Vera Hilgert, Nancy Rynearson, Carlhur Criss, Edward Wilcox, Eugene Priest

Basses: Thomas Fredrickson, David Moore, Rachel Sheils
Harpsichord: George Lucktenberg

Bernard Goodman, conductor

The University of Illinois Symphony orchestra, numbering eighty-six players this year, ranks with the best college and university orchestras in the country. Membership in this organization is open to any student who can qualify, as well as townspeople and faculty members from the University at large.

The orchestra joins the choral organizations of the University twice each year in the presentation of great choral works. This year, the University orchestra performed with Grant Johannesen on a Star Course concert in addition to their regular fall and spring concerts. The orchestra also played under Rafael Kubelik, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Mark Hindsley, director

Mark Hindsley is director of the University of Illinois Concert band. The band is composed of students who have attained a high level of musical and technical proficiency on their instruments and who desire to perform the finest in symphonic band music. The Concert band is the highest perfection of the University of Illinois bands.

Highlights for the Concert band each year include the University Band clinic and the Anniversary concerts. A series of Wednesday evening Twilight concerts starts after Easter, and performances are presented during the Commencement period. In addition to the frequent broadcasts over WILL, the Concert band presents several appearances in high schools and other institutions throughout the states.

Everett Kisinger, director

The First Regimental band is one of the three units which make up the University of Illinois bands. This band, conducted by Everett Kisinger, assistant director, serves as a training organization for the Concert band and forms part of the famous University of Illinois Marching band which performs at all home football games and makes one or more out-of-town trips each fall.

The band participates in the Annual Band clinic as a laboratory for band directors from all over the nation, and also in twilight concerts, WILL broadcasts, and important military ceremonies.

Lyman Starr, director

The Second Regimental band is an integral part of the University of Illinois bands. It serves as a training organization for the First Regimental and Concert bands. As individual improvement is shown and as vacancies occur its members are promoted to the other bands. Conducted by Lyman Starr, its membership is made up for the most part of Freshman and Sophomore students.

Each year a sizeable number of its members are selected to become part of the Football band. Other activities include playing for pep rallies, military ceremonies, performing new music and materials at the annual Band clinic, a formal concert during the Twilight Series of Band concerts, various activities on campus such as High School Circus, Mothers Day, and broadcasting over radio station WILL.

Football Marching Band

Illinois' 175-piece football band, oldest and largest in the nation, climaxed the 1951 season with a nine-day, 6,000-mile trip to the West Coast during Christmas vacation.

Chevrolet division of General Motors sponsored the $45,000 trip, which included a complete show at the East-West game December 29 in San Francisco and two appearances on New Year's Day in Pasadena—the eight-mile-long Tournament of Roses parade and the Rose Bowl game.

More than 2,000,000 persons saw the band on the West Coast, plus millions watching the telecasts of the parade and Rose Bowl game.

A short home season of four games and one trip to Indiana for the game at Bloomington was supplemented by the voluntary appearance of 125 football bandsmen at the title-deciding Illinois-Northwestern game at Evanston during Thanksgiving vacation. Many of the men traveled to the game at their own expense.

Cold weather and snow-covered practice field forced the band to practice inside the Armory, beginning November 2. The bandsmen used a "football field" marked on the dirt floor to learn not only the routines for the Michigan and Iowa games but also for their three major appearances on the Rose Bowl trip.

The band rehearsed at the University of Southern California campus while in Los Angeles. The return trip was highlighted by a half-day sight-seeing stop on the southern rim of the Grand Canyon.

ORGANIZATIONS

Honoraries

Students who are outstanding in their respective fields are gaining recognition through the various honoraries of the University. Nearly every college has one or more honoraries recognizing students who have high scholarship and achievement in a particular field.

Some of these societies, bringing together students of like interests, are chapters of national organizations, while others are local societies springing from the University itself.

The purposes of the honoraries are to encourage scholarship, cooperation, friendship, achievement, and the high ideals of the profession, and to promote leadership, service, research, and a greater understanding of the subject.

In furthering the interests and development of specific vocations, honoraries are also providing closer social and professional companionship for their members.

Professional interests such as those stimulated by honoraries at the University provide opportunities for application of practical experiences in the respective fields and personal associations which will prove valuable in post college endeavors.

Alpha Chron, established in October, 1948, is an activity honorary for independent sophomore women. Recognition is given to sophomores who have done both outstanding work in house and campus activities during their freshmen year and who have attained a grade average of 3.35 or better.

The purposes of Alpha Chron are to encourage further work in campus activities, to promote a truer friendship among members of the Women's Group System, and to engage in programs which will stimulate leadership among members and among other students. Alpha Chron annually sponsors Watseka Sing, the independent women's sing, given during Mothers Day Week-end. Also, members of this organization usher for the Dads Day stunt show and serve at the Women's Group System scholarship tea.

A clock surrounded by a date book and wings is the symbol of Alpha Chron. The clock signifies fleeting time, and the date book signifies the efficiency of an activity member. The wings signify Mercury, the messenger of the Roman gods who furthered friendships among the gods.

Beta Gamma Sigma

Beta Gamma Sigma is a scholastic honor society for outstanding students in Commerce and Business Administration. It was organized on February 26, 1913, with chapters at Illinois, California, and Wisconsin. There are now 52 chapters located in the institutions which compose the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

New members, juniors, and seniors ranking in the top two per cent of their class in Commerce, are selected on a basis of scholarship and through an election by the active student and faculty members. Its alumni group numbers more than 15,000 and includes many leading businessmen and industrialists.

Dolphins, the national swimming fraternity, was organized by E. J. Manley, the present coach of the University of Illinois swimming team, in 1912. Nationalization soon followed after the First World War.

The purpose of the fraternity is to promote aquatic activities. Members must display outstanding skill in all phases of water sports and demonstrate devotion to the purpose of the fraternity.

This year's Annual Dolphin Show, presented on Dads Day and Homecoming weekends, was entitled Continental Capers. A Dolphin queen was selected from a number of candidates at the final performance. The proceeds from the show are used to promote interest in aquatic activities on campus and throughout the state as well as to send members of the group to the National Swimming Forum at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, during the winter vacation.

In addition to promoting such aquatic activities as water polo, Dolphin members aid in officiating at swimming events and meets on the campus.

Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic fraternity for freshman men, was founded at the University of Illinois in order to encourage and to honor high scholarship among the freshman men. Since its founding in 1923 by Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, eighty chapters have been installed in leading colleges and universities all over the country.

Membership to Phi Eta Sigma is open to all freshman men who achieve a 4.5 average during their first semester or by the end of their first year. At the end of the eight weeks period, a smoker is held for all freshman men who have made an average of 4.0 or better in order to encourage them to maintain their high scholarship throughout the year.

Following the fall and spring initiations, a banquet is held for the new initiates.

A tutoring system was put into effect for the first time this year to help those men who are in need of instruction.

Skull and Crescent is a national fraternity honoring sophomore men who are outstanding in activities and scholarship. Its members are chosen from the twenty-five oldest fraternities on campus. Its main objective is to create and promote interfraternity fellowship and encourage freshmen to excel in scholarship and campus activities.

Bi-monthly meetings are held at the members' houses, where various subjects are discussed in an effort to promote good will among the fraternities. One of the activities of the fraternity is the annual pajama race held in the armory. Social events sponsored by the organization are an annual dinner dance at the Urbana-Lincoln Hotel, a pledge banquet, and an exchange with the members of Shi-Ai, women's sophomore honorary.

Each year the new initiates are awarded Skull and Crescent pins, which are passed down from the previous members. They in return present the alums with an honorary paddle. The Illinois Helmet Chapter has maintained its traditions for over thirty years.

Shi-Ai, sophomore activity for Greek women, was established at Northwestern University in 1920. Every fall, each sorority chooses the two sophomore girls they think are the most outstanding in activities, leadership, and scholarship to be pledges of Shi-Ai. The two girls must present an original stunt in all sorority houses, and obtain the signature of every active member. A prize is awarded to the girls with the best stunt.

One of the purposes of Shi-Ai is to promote and strengthen sorority friendships as well as interest in activities. Social events usually include exchanges with Skull and Crescent, Sachem, and the anniversary-election banquet in March.

As a service project each member writes letters to the Panhellenic foster child. A Christmas party is given for the children of Huling Orphan's Home in Rantoul. Shi-Ai Sing, the annual intersorority sing, is one of the main events of Mothers Day Week-end. Receipts from the program support the milk fund for needy families of the Champaign-Urbana area. The organization is represented on Panhellenic Council.

Shorterboard was founded on the University of Illinois campus in 1932 for the purpose of recognizing senior women who are outstanding in activities. Last spring the group, unique only to this campus, achieved formal recognition by the University to take a place with the other official honoraries because of the need to recognize the senior women's activity achievements. For the first time the membership plaque was hung in Bevier Hall outside the Dean of Women's office. The newly initiated members of 1951-52 were honored to march in Shorterboard white robes down the campus broadwalk in the traditional Mother's Day coronation ceremony.

The purpose of fostering friendship among themselves and of bettering associations among all campus honorary organizations gives the active chapter of Shorterboard many opportunities for a varied program. This season's members have reorganized the purpose and program to include not only interest in University annual events such as Dads Day and Mothers Day functions and ceremonies, and participation in campus entertainment fields, but also sponsorship of a social service project to be continued in future years.

Star and Scroll is a sophomore honorary society which was founded at the University of Illinois for the purpose of creating and promoting interfraternity fellowship, raising freshmen scholarship standards, and perpetuating the traditions of the University.

Two men are selected each year from the individual member fraternities on the basis of freshmen scholarship and their potential success as a campus leader in extra-curricular activities.

Star and Scroll highlights in the school year of 1951-52 included the annual formal dance, which was held on November 16 at the Urbana-Lincoln Hotel, and the selection of a Star and Scroll Queen from the candidates representing each of the member houses. The organization is planning an extensive expansion program with the purpose of incorporating other fraternities on campus into the organization.

Enthusiastic support and close cooperation of all the members resulted in a very successful dance and indicates the spirit of fellowship that exists in the organization.

Tomahawk is an activity honorary for independent sophomore men. Members are chosen by the recommendation of the chairman of their particular activity on the basis of leadership and achievement. From the names submitted, the members choose those whom they consider to be the most capable of carrying on the high standards of the fraternity. All of the major activities on campus are represented in Tomahawk.

The purpose of Tomahawk is to recognize the outstanding work in activities during the freshman year, to inspire members to greater achievement during the remaining years at the University, to act as a service organization on the campus, and to strengthen bonds of friendship among independent men.

The organization of Tomahawk at Illinois has an excellent record of two decades of service to the University. The first chapter was founded here in 1931. It was not a national organization until 1949, when it united with other sophomore honoraries from Indiana and Purdue. Since that time, Iowa State has become the fourth member of the honorary group.

Terrapin is an honorary swimming club for University women. Pledges are selected on the basis of individual swimming skill, rhythm, and potential water ballet skill.

Throughout the year, members work for improvement in swimming, diving, and stunts. They have regular meetings at which time they practice these skills.

The highlight of their year is the annual water show given in the Spring during the campus celebration of Mother's Day. This show, consisting of integrated water musical numbers, is written and produced by the members of the club.

Terrapin also sponsors the Annual Women's Inter-house Swimming Meet and trips to other campus swimming meets. Its members participate in the annual Dolphin Show and the Annual Women's Aquatic Forum held at Hollywood, Florida. The club supports the swimming events on campus and acts as a parent to Guppies.

Terrapin Club is sponsored by the Department of Physical Education for Women and is an affiliate of the Women's Athletic Association.

Organizations

Organizations and societies have been playing an increasingly important role in modern progressive education. The present day trend is to give the student a well rounded personality and social adeptness as well as an education in the technicalities of his field of endeavor.

The best and possibly only way for a student to become at ease with his fellow man is simply to associate with him in his social and business activities. The many organizations, clubs, and societies represented on the campus, whose activities delve into almost every field of endeavor, afford the student an unexcelled opportunity to exploit his college training in character and personal development.

The purpose of the following section of the Illio is to familiarize the student with these various organizations and activities and to recognize the work accomplished by those who are active members.

The Accountancy Club is an organization whose purposes are to inform members in the College of Commerce, to foster interests in the science of accounting, and to promote understanding and fellowship between faculty and students in the College of Commerce. Membership is open to all students registered in the University who have received credit in two semesters of accountancy.

Monthly meetings feature talks by prominent accountants and are designed to acquaint the members with current trends in accounting. An outstanding spring event is the annual field trip touring several plants and inspecting their accountancy systems. The organization also sponsors numerous faculty and student athletic events during the year.

The executive committee is composed of the Senior and Junior Councils. The publicity, the Club's membership drives, and the selection of speakers are handled by the Senior Council. Sophomore and Junior members are eligible to serve on the Junior Council.

The Agriculture Club, which consists of four hundred students enrolled in the College of Agriculture or in related fields, was founded in 1895 to promote and develop interest in Agriculture.

Officers and members of this organization sponsor many events on the agriculture campus. Some of these events are the All-Ag Field Day, the Aggie Talent Show, the Spring Judging contest, the All-Ag Spring Open House, and the Plow Boy Prom.

Under the jurisdiction of the Agriculture Club are eight subsidiary organizations which promote particular phases of agriculture. They are the Dairy Production Club, the Dairy Technology Club, the Agriculture Economics Club, the Agriculture Education Club, the Field and Furrow Club, the Horticulture Club, the Poultry Club, and the Hoof and Horn Club.

The Agriculture Council which consists of the presidents of the subsidiary clubs and the editor of the Illini Rural Observer, coordinates the activities of these clubs.

The Combined Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers at the University of Illinois is a student society which functions as an organization under the auspices of the National Institute. Its purpose is to promote the advancement of the field and to further the professional developments of electrical engineering.

Membership of the student branch of the A.I.E.E.-I.R.E. enables students in electrical engineering to become better acquainted with their fellow engineering classmates and their instructors. Talks given by outstanding men in the engineering profession enable the members to obtain a broader aspect of the electrical industry than is brought out through classroom work alone.

Besides having outside speakers give talks to the members, the A.I.E.E.-I.R.E. sponsors technical papers competition, inspection trips, picnics, and dances. St. Pat's Ball, the all-engineering show, and the senior-faculty banquet are sponsored or supported by the organization.

The Isabel Bevier Home Economics Club, the first club of its kind in the country, was first founded at the University of Illinois. The goals of the organization are to develop interest in home economics at the University, to promote friendship between the students and faculty, and to develop a greater appreciation of the home. The club also seeks to stimulate interest and to increase knowledge of professional home economics among the members.

Among the activities of the Home Economics Club are the Freshmen Tea, the All-Ag Field Day, the Plow Boy Prom, the Christmas party, and the Home Economics Spring Banquet. The goal of the regular monthly meetings of the Home Economics Club is to acquaint the girls with the department by means of debates, tours, style shows, and movies.

All home economics students in the schools of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, and Education are eligible for membership. Each year the name of the freshman girl who attains the highest scholarship during the year is placed on a plaque which hangs in Bevier Hall.

The Hoof and Horn Club is an organization composed of agriculture students interested in animal science. The purpose of this club is to enable students to become better acquainted with their fellow students, their professors, as well as a number of the outstanding men in the field of animal husbandry. By serving this organization and attending the monthly meetings, the students obtain a much broader view of the animal science industry and become more aware of the latest developments and improvements in the field of livestock production. The experience that they encounter in this organization is valuable to them as a supplement to their classroom work.

In the fall, the Little International, consisting of a horse show and other entertainment, is presented. The funds raised by this show help finance the Intercollegiate Fatstock and Meats Judging Contest which is open to all agriculture students. Prizes are awarded, and the event offers an excellent chance for livestock judges to show their skill and for amateurs to gain new experience in this field.

"Orchesis" is a Greek word meaning "to dance." The purpose of the organization is to offer men and women the opportunity for creative dance study, composition, and performance, and also to stimulate appreciation and understanding of the art in the community.

Each March, Orchesis sponsors a concert in conjunction with the Contemporary Arts Festival. A part of the proceeds from this concert are allotted for a scholarship to be awarded to a member of the group for summer study at a school of dance.

Orchesis also sponsors concerts by visiting artists and organizes symposiums in which other colleges are invited to participate. The club gives lecture demonstrations for the music and art departments, as well as for various clubs on campus and in the community. Orchesis takes part in productions which combine the efforts of the music, drama, and dance departments.

The Student Veterinary Medical Association of the University of Illinois was formed in 1948 by the first class of the college of veterinary medicine. From this small beginning, the club has grown each year, until now there are 112 members. The association is similar to other student veterinary associations of other colleges in the United States and Canada. A business meeting, as well as a social meeting, is held each month. Attempts are made to highlight these social meetings by inviting guest speakers from different fields of veterinary medicine.

The objectives of the association are to promote friendly relations and high ethical standards among the students who are enrolled in the veterinary curriculum, to provide additional opportunities for the members of the organization, to gain professional knowledge, to demonstrate the virtue of organized effort, and to build character. By striving to attain these objectives, the society aims to foster and to promote group ethics and friendly relations.

The Rifle and Pistol club, a member of the National Rifle Association, is affiliated with Illowa and Midwestern Tournaments. It officially represents the University of Illinois in intercollegiate shoulder-to-shoulder and pistol matches.

For any given match, members compete for positions on the team by a continuous qualification program, with the five high men at the time of the match winning a berth on the team.

The Rifle and Pistol Club, since its renovation in 1946, has taken many titles and trophies including the following: team first place in the first University of Illinois Invitational, team third place in the Big Ten, Open Championship of the iron sight division of the Illinois State Match, and team second in the Intercollegiate Regional with one man winning a position on the All-American team.

All undergraduates, graduates, faculty, and staff members are eligible for membership. Team firing is done by undergraduate members.

The Arnold Air Society is a national honorary for members of the AF ROTC. The society is open to any advanced AF ROTC student who has a sufficient scholastic average. Members must manifest a high degree of interest in the U.S. Air Force and the military security of the United States. The active members wear the blue and gold Arnold Air Society four-rager as a part of the uniform while in AF ROTC student status.

The society received its name in honor of the late general of the Air Force, H. H. Arnold. The University of Illinois Unit, Squadron A-3, was founded in February 1949. It is called the Jake Schaeffer Squadron in honor of the first University of Illinois graduate to lose his life in World War II.

The purpose of the Arnold Society is to further the mission of the United States Air Force at the college or university level. This objective is achieved by featuring films and speakers at their meetings, held twice a month.

The Society is a rapidly expanding and progressive organization. The Squadron sent delegates to the past two national conventions.

Pershing Rifles is a national honorary military society founded in 1894 for the purpose of furthering interest in military affairs. Company C-3, the local unit, was installed at Illinois in 1931 and since then has maintained one of the largest and most active units in the country.

Members are selected from basic course cadets in the Army, Navy, and Air Force R.O.T.C. by instructors in the military department on the basis of military scholarship, leadership, ability, and interest. The officers of the organization are elected and appointed from the advance corps members.

Pershing Rifles has an organized rifle team and three drill teams which are the regular, crack, and German Castle Guards. The organization also maintains a Drum and Bugle Corps and a color guard which it furnishes for athletic events and military ceremonies on campus. Each year the organization selects an honorary sponsor for the unit. One very important function held by Pershing Rifles is an overnight maneuver which is similar to an actual military combat operation.

Phalanx is a national military honorary and professional fraternity. It was founded on the campus of the University of Illinois in 1925. The members are chosen from the advanced corps cadets of the Army and Air Force R.O.T.C. and the midshipmen of the Navy R.O.T.C. upon the recommendation of the Unit Directors of these various branches and the active members of Phalanx.

The purpose of the honorary is to promote the interest of military men, to implant discipline in its members, and thus to aid in the preparedness of the country.

Organization activities include regular educational meetings, dances, and services to the University. During the present year, a saber arch was inaugurated as an integral and permanent part of the organization. This service was first offered during the school year 1950-51 when Phalanx provided the saber arch for the Queen Coronation at both the Mothers Day and the Sweet Sixteen Circus festivities. The saber arch is now available for any University function to which a saber arch would add dignity and formality.

Scabbard and Blade is a national military honorary and professional fraternity. Company F, organized at the University of Illinois in 1909, was the fifth company organized. The society has one hundred and ten companies or chapters organized into nine regiments, with a total membership of nearly 55,000. The members are chosen yearly from the advanced corps of the Army, Air Force, and Naval Reserve Officer's Training Corps. They are selected on the basis of their all-around merit.

Annual national conventions are held, at which time national officers are elected, future policies are discussed, and petitions for new companies are voted on.

The purpose of this organization is to raise the standard of military education in American colleges and universities and to unite the military departments more closely. The honorary promotes friendship among the cadet officers and encourages the qualities possessed by good officers.

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation seeks to provide a religious, cultural, and social center for the Jewish students enrolled at the University. It offers the students Jewish life and fellowship through the observance of the Sabbath and other Holy days; Jewish creativity through the medium of activity groups, such as the choral group, Foundation newspaper, and dramatic group; and Jewish learning through forums, study groups, and University-approved credit courses. The Foundation maintains a large library of Judaica and a library of recordings, both classical and Jewish. Hillel is organized as the all-embracing community of Jewish students and is administered by the Director, his staff, and student leaders who comprise the Hillel Student Council. It functions as the spokesman for Jewish students in all matters of a religious nature and as the medium through which students are taught to cooperate with other Foundations in the cultivation of a moral and spiritual life. It is the purpose of Hillel to develop leadership for future Jewish life in America and to enable the Jewish community to contribute to the heritage of society. It is toward this that the Hillel Foundation is striving.

Illini Christian Fellowship

The Illini Christian Fellowship group at Illinois consists of Christians of every conceivable denomination. There is, however, a sense of unity through a common eagerness to know Christ better and to make Him known as Savior and Lord. The group considers spiritual and moral problems of the day through group discussion, study of the Bible, prayer, and weekly lectures given by outstanding Christian men from many fields. One of the Missionary endeavors of Illini Christian Fellowship is the conducting of Bible studies for foreign students. Understanding is fostered through the sharing of ideas at regional, national, and international conferences during the school year. Illini Christian Fellowship is one of more than three-hundred chapters of InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, an international organization. Although the spiritual and intellectual is emphasized, it recognizes the social needs of its members by sponsoring regular social activities and an annual spring formal banquet. Thus the Fellowship makes a contribution to many phases of campus life. The faculty sponsors are the Professors Secord, Morgan, and Morrill.

The Newman Foundation is the Catholic student center at the University. Its purpose is to deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal life of its members. The foundation's program is under the direction of the Rev. Edward Duncan, assisted by the Rev. Edward O'Rourke and the Rev. Edgar Taylor. First among the foundation's activities is the work of St. John's Catholic Chapel, which offers its students three masses daily. Also, the foundation offers courses in dogmatic, moral, and ascetic theology; liturgy and scripture; church history; and philosophy.

The Newman Club, official organization of Catholic students on campus, sponsors a series of lectures on topics of vital interest for Catholics through its Te Deum and Aquinas forums and its Christopher conferences. The Newman Club is affiliated with the National Federation of Newman Clubs and is a branch of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. A well-balanced social program consisting of intramural sports, dramatics, corporate communions, discussion groups, and coffee hours is offered to its members. Traditional events include an annual formal and a picnic to Turkey Run State Park each spring.

The Reverend Edward Duncan

New Year's Day, 1952, saw the Fighting Illini football team crowned champions of the Rose Bowl. After rolling through a rugged Big Ten schedule, the undefeated Illinoisians set back a classy Stanford University eleven 40-7 in the post-season finale at Pasadena. The victory was the sixth consecutive Bowl win by a Big Ten team over champions of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Head Coach Ray Eliot praised the teamwork and spirit which won the game and which had been the key to Illini success all season. For Eliot it was the second successful venture to the West Coast classic in the last five years. For the team it was a well-deserved climax to a great season of football.

There goes Wallace—and Stanford's Rose Bowl dreams

New Year's Day in Pasadena is a day of many memorable events. The Illini who will never forget Stan Wallace's interception in the grid contest will be just as unlikely to forget the splendor and pageantry of the Tournament of Roses Parade.

Well over two million people lined the sunswept Colorado Street route to watch the three-hour parade. And several times that number got a glimpse of the spectacle on television programs beamed out across the nation.

California weather came through in beautiful style for the big day, after threatening cold and rain which could have ruined the flower-covered floats.

* Each float is decorated entirely with flowers—individual blossoms which are cut and glued in place by hand to form the desired patterns. An average float would be composed of about 50,000 of these blooms, often including several thousand orchids.

This year marked the 63rd anniversary of the Tournament of Roses, a celebration of local historical significance in southern California. It is only in relatively recent years that the Bowl football game has become the major part of the extravaganza. The Californians are immensely proud of their fete, and go to unbelievable extremes of energy and expense to make it worthy of the attention it receives.

Stanford meets the Illinois defense

The story of the 1952 Rose Bowl game must begin in the middle. The Illini unleashed a devastating second half attack which completely demoralized Stanford's highly rated Indians and awed the crowd of 98,000 fans. For almost three quarters the West Coast champs had clung to a one-point lead—then came the turning point.

Trying to improve his 7-6 advantage, Gary Kerkorian, deadly Indian quarterback, winged a pass toward his left end who waited on the Illinois 30 yard line. But defensive halfback Stan Wallace streaked in, picked off the ball, and churned up turf for 56 yards before he was forced out of bounds just 14 yards away from the Stanford double stripe. Bill Tate went over from there, and in the next 18 minutes the aroused Illini scored four more times.

First blood of the game was drawn after a short three minutes of playing time when Pete Bachouros dove for six yards to climax a 76 yard sustained drive. But Stanford scored and converted to go ahead, and in the remainder of the first half it was the old story of the mighty Illinois defense crushing the Stanford eleven—wearing them down as they had eight other victims during the season.

Brosky, Boerio, Wodziak, and Neathery halt a McColl advance

Illini go ahead as Tate booms into the south end zone

But the offense turned out to be the big gun of the Rose Bowl champs. Big Bill Tate ripped off 150 yards—one yard shy of a Rose Bowl record. All-American Johnny Karras ran beautifully and consistently, as did the rugged Pete Bachouros.

The last 18 minutes of the Bowl game brought forth what was undoubtedly the peak performance of the Illini's football season. They bucked and ran their way to no less than four touchdowns in the record shattering final period. The forward wall, especially Captain Chuck Studley and his running mate Don Gnidovic, made life miserable for Stanford's defense, opening hole after hole for the backs.

Karras outran half the Stanford team for Illinois' third TD as he skirted left end for seven yards. Next it was Tate again from the two, after Karras had completed an O'Connell pass and a 15 yard run. Then Don Stevens knifed over the battered left side of the Stanford line for still another score.

It was a great day, too, for the substitutes as the game drew to a close. Freshman Bud DeMoss thrilled the crowd with a 40 yard run. Jim Baughman blocked a Redskin punt and Don Engels threw a final TD pass to Rocky Ryan.

In one of the most auspicious football openers in years, the Fighting Illini roared away to a 27-13 victory over a visiting UCLA eleven.

The Illini treated the fans to a sneak preview of their tremendous offensive power as Johnny Karras, Don Stevens, and Bill Tate smashed right through every defense the Bruins could set up.

The Illini grabbed a 7-0 lead early in the first period after an 80 yard downfield march. With Bill Tate supplying the chief punch, John Karras climaxed the drive with a one yard plunge for the score. The Uclans came right back, however, and after losing the ball once on Herb Neathery's pass interception, recovered an Illinois fumble and went on to score. By the time the end of the first half rolled around, the Tribe found itself struggling to stave off a UCLA lead.

A 58 yard run by Don Stevens mid-way through the third period broke the 7-7 deadlock and started the Illini rolling. Less than two minutes after Stevens' brilliant run, Stan Wallace charged in to intercept a Bruin aerial. Karras again plowed through and made the score 21-7.

Another Illinois fumble started UCLA toward its second TD. The Orange and Blue, however, quickly added a fourth quarter insurance score. Following John Karras' flashy 42 yard return of the UCLA kickoff, the Illini quickly ate up the remaining yardage with Karras going over for the day's final score.

Syracuse

A sadly outclassed Syracuse eleven had a few moments of anxious hope, but was finally overpowered 41-20 to make good the only eastern appearance of the Illinois team.

A long pass from quarterback Don Engels found Joe Vernasco wide open in the end zone for the initial tally only ten plays after the kickoff. But Syracuse came back to tie the score at 7-7 on an unexpected long aerial which found its way past the usually alert Illinois pass defense.

The tie was short lived, however, as the Illini used the next few minutes to score three touchdowns and end the half 27-7. Outstanding running play was a 44 yard dash by Don Stevens to prepare the way for the first of Johnny Karras' two scores. Andy Wodziak realized the defensive man's dream of a touchdown when he picked off a Syracuse punt blocked by Marv Berschet and raced untouched ten yards to the goal. A few plays later Al Brosky, the scoreless wonder, ran an intercepted pass back twenty yards, missing the TD by only five yards. Karras smashed this one over to end the first half efforts.

The second half saw the Illini reserves in action, and was relatively unproductive. The one highlight was a brilliant kickoff to touchdown run by Stevens, to open the period. Each team scored twice in this half.

The next one's bound to be better

In the first showdown battle for the Big Ten championship, an inspired Illinois team fought from behind to grab a 14-10 win over a rugged Wisconsin eleven. It was a story-book ending that saw the Illini overcome a 10-7 deficit with a fourth quarter drive that was climaxed when John Karras bucked over for the winning touchdown from two yards out.

Only moments before, the Illini seemed headed for defeat and Wisconsin for a 10 point lead when a pass interference penalty gave the Badgers a first down on the Illinois one yard line. A determined Illinois wall led by Chuck Boerio had other ideas, and in one of the greatest goal-line stands in Memorial Stadium history, they hurled back Wisconsin ball-carriers four successive times and took over on their four in what proved the turning point of the game.

After taking the opening kickoff, the Fighting Illini, using a baffling spread formation, marched 71 yards to score with Karras sprinting over from the seven. Wisconsin scored when Jim Hammond fell on an Illinois fumble in the end zone and Johnny Coatta added a 17 yard field goal to lead at half-time.

Fourth quarter scoring punch was again the key to Illinois victory as they registered their fourth straight win, a thrilling 27-20 triumph over Washington before a crowd of 54,000 in Seattle. Tom O'Connell was the spark plug of the Illini attack completing eight of ten passes, five in a row in the climactic 81 yard final period drive. The last of these was a 16 yard toss to Bill Tate in the end zone for the game winning touchdown with only two minutes left to play.

The Illini showed early scoring power by marching 65 yards in 12 plays after taking the opening kickoff, Tate bucking over from the one. The Huskies came right back to tie up the score when Dean Rockey blasted into the end zone from the one. In the second quarter, Illinois pushed across two more touchdowns for a comfortable 20-7 half-time lead. Don Stevens scored one of these from a yard out, and Pete Bachouros scampered 16 yards for the third Illinois TD.

Washington roared back in the second half when Sam Mitchell found the range and connected with two touchdown passes. That tied the score at 20 all and set the stage for the Illini victory march.

Defying a forty-one year old jinx of never having beat Indiana on their home grounds, Illinois crushed the Hoosier eleven with a 21-0 shutout. The Illini rolled up their fifth consecutive victory and their second conference win. Johnny Karras scored a total of three touchdowns, one on an eighty-three yard gallop that goes into the record books as the longest scoring run from scrimmage in modern conference history.

Indiana fought hard to score in the first quarter, but the Illinois defensive platoon dug in hard to stop them. Stan Wallace recovered a Hoosier fumble on the Illini fourteen, and two plays later, after a 5-yard offside penalty and a 3-yard gain, John was away on his long sprint. When Indiana threatened again, Al Brosky intercepted in the end zone. The Tribe roared on and went the distance of eighty yards in eight straight plays, O'Connell throwing to Karras for the score.

In the second half Bob Lenzini, sophomore guard, set up the third TD when he blocked an Indiana punt on the Orange and Blue forty-three. Sparked by Bill Tate's line plunges and delayed bucks, the Illini moved to within three yards of the Hoosier goal in short order. Karras crashed over from there, and Sam Rebecca added his third conversion to end the scoring.

Michigan

A dogged and fighting Illinois team registered one of the most glorious football rallies seen in Memorial Stadium as they marched 83 yards to score against Michigan on a seven yard pass from Tom O'Connell to Rex Smith with only 70 seconds remaining. A sell-out Dads' Day crowd, which had braved sub-freezing temperatures and snowy winds and was just about resigned to a scoreless tie, rose to its feet to cheer the do-or-die drive which paid off in a 7-0 Illinois victory.

To score, the Illini had to battle straight into the teeth of gales up to 50 miles an hour over a slippery snow-covered field. Until the climactic Illinois victory march, the game had been the tight defensive struggle weather conditions had dictated. The crowd of 71,000, mostly huddled in blankets, saw the two teams battle for eleven first downs each, while the punts were also even at ten.

With less than four minutes to go in the game, the 83 yards between Illinois and victory seemed an impossible distance. Undaunted, the Illini, behind O'Connell's four successive pass completions and the hard running of Bill Tate and Johnny Karras, surged down the field until O'Connell faked out the tough Wolverine defense and found Smith pretty much by himself in the Michigan end zone for the score.

Ohio State gangs up on Stevens

Offensive-minded Illinois played their best brand of football to please a Homecoming crowd of 56,444 and trounce Iowa's Hawkeyes by a score of 40-13.

The Illini received the kick-off and marched right up the field. Climaxing a 61-yard drive in four plays, Tom O'Connell fired to Joe Vernasco for 38 yards and a touchdown. The next drive started from the Orange and Blue 30 and ended again with the O'Connell-Vernasco scoring combination. Number three came easily as Iowa fumbled on their own 16, and Johnny Karras carried four straight times, finally cracking over from the one. Illinois took over on downs again, and Pete Bachouros and John Karras brought the ball down to the Hawkeye 37 where, again spotting Vernasco open, O'Connell let loose and made the score 25-0.

With its consistent ground gaining, Illinois took the second half kick-off back 83 yards. Karras sprinted over to tally his twelfth of the year. With Illinois substituting freely, Iowa was able to score twice, but Ed Gaus, third string fullback, added one more to the Tribe's total to make it a final score of 40-13.

After winning seven consecutive games, the Fighting Illini were finally stopped when a great Ohio State defensive platoon battled Illinois to a 0-0 tie.

The entire game was a rugged see-saw defensive battle. The Illini had several opportunities to score, but they were either unable to crack the Ohio defense or they lost the ball through fumbles and interceptions. The Buckeye offensive scare of the day was a field goal attempt by the deadly Vic Janowicz, but the Illini forward wall came crashing through to spoil the try.

A 17-yard field goal by place-kicking expert Sammy Rebecca provided the final and all-important payment on the Illinois Rose Bowl ticket as the Illini squeezed past Northwestern, 3-0, in Dyche Stadium. Rebecca's game-winning boot came in the second quarter of a game which saw the Illini constantly threaten but lack the final scoring thrust. The game gave Illinois its tenth Big Ten football title as well as breaking the four-game victory string held by Northwestern over the Illini since the first Illinois Rose Bowl team of 1946.

Statistically, Illinois was more impressive than the score would indicate, piling up a 366-yard offensive total to the Wildcats' 120 and a 19-8 edge in the first down department.

Kerr and Bemoras in action against Indiana.

From one of the best crops of hoopsters in years, Coach Harry Combes put together the greatest Illinois basketball team since the Whiz Kids. The team had no one star—it had six outstanding players with a strong bench to back them up. Every one of the first six men was high scorer in at least one game. Each of these men, Fletcher, Bredar, Peterson, Bemoras, Kerr, and Follmer, averaged approximately 10 points per game.

The Illini rode the crest of the tide in both the AP and UP polls—placing first in the nation just before their loss to DePaul, and anywhere from second to sixth thereafter. They held down the second slot just after defeating Northwestern to cinch the Big Ten crown—just before the anti-climactic loss to Wisconsin.

The three losses—all away games—which the Illini suffered during the regular season did not really hurt as the men of the hardwood came through when the chips were down in the second Iowa game, and both Indiana games. Harry Combs was voted second in the Coach of the Year poll, and the Illini moved on to the NCAA Tournament as Big Ten representative.

The last three words in rebounding—Bemoras, Peterson, and Fletcher.

Bredar drives past.

Under the guns of every team they played as the team to beat in 1951-52, the Fighting Illini had the will as well as the material to come through a terrific schedule in successful defense of their Big Ten title.

Coach Harry Combes used a team that was both tall and fast, and had a bench behind them loaded with relief talent. Even distribution of ability among the first six men led to teamwork and team victories.

Winning 11 straight over both non-conference and Big Ten foes to open the season, the Illini seemed to be on their way to a possible undefeated slate. It remained for a scrappy DePaul outfit to take the first toll in a Chicago Stadium contest on January 26. This was followed by a shaky win over the Buckeyes at Ohio State.

A five-point decision lost to Iowa on their home court was no disgrace, especially when giant Chuck Darling, conference record writer, bagged 26 points for the strongly contending Hawks. This contest threw the Big Ten race into a midseason tie.

That seems to be a mighty popular basketball.

The Illini submerged their next three opponents without serious difficulty. The most crucial of these three games was played against Indiana on the Hoosier floor. But Combes' hoopsters won going away in a contest which was outstanding only in its roughness, a total of 73 fouls having been called against both teams.

The title was at stake when Iowa invaded George Huff Gymnasium on February 23. Little Jim Bredar rose to that occasion and threw in 20 points to help break the conference tie and keep unbroken a skein of 24 years without an Iowa win on the Illinois floor.

A week later, a red hot Northwestern squad moved in, bent on playing the spoiler, but again the Illini had it to spare as they came forth with a 95 point attack. Wisconsin defeated Iowa on the same night, to mathematically eliminate the Hawkeyes and clinch the second consecutive Big Ten crown for Illinois.

Wisconsin took a let-down victory over the new champs in the season finale at Madison, but the Illini had already won their place in the N.C.A.A. playoffs.

John Kerr

Captain Rod Fletcher was named on the second team All-American in recognition of his tremendous rebounding ability. A senior, Fletcher earned his third basketball letter in 1952.

Fiery Jim Bredar, guard, was noted mostly for his ball-hawking defense, but his 20 points in the Iowa game had plenty of bearing on the conference standings. At the other guard was Irv Bemoras, whose set shots and rebounding were big factors in the Illini's winning ways. Irv topped the scoring column in four games.

Clive Follmer held down the forward position, opposite Fletcher. The flashy junior had his best night against Ohio State, when he scored 20 points. Steady Bob Peterson started most of the games at center and at 6-8 was tall enough to take his share of rebounds. Close behind him was John Kerr, a much-improved 6-9 sophomore. The lanky redhead lead the Illinois scorers no less than nine times, and had the season high individual effort with 34 markers in the Northwestern game.

Senior Herb Gerecke and sophomore Max Hooper were the most frequently used substitutes, but Combes had plenty of talent to spare, including seniors Mack Follmer and Dick Christiansen.

Track

The Big Ten track story for 1950-51 was mostly a tale of Illinois victories as the Fighting Illini captured both the Indoor and Outdoor titles. The clean sweep of Big Ten track honors was accented with several record-breaking efforts by Illinois thinclads, but general team strength with competent performers in each event paid off with the double crown. Some Illinois trackmen actually initiated their campaign in the fall, using cross country as a conditioning spring-board to gain experience and endurance. The opening of the indoor season found the Illini in good shape, but exhibiting few of the outstanding performances which characterized the team later in the season. Under the watchful eye and guiding hand of head coach Leo Johnson, the Illinois entry improved steadily as a unit and as individual members until the powerful double-championship team was evolved.

Outdoor Track

Journeying 2,000 miles to sunny California, the Illinois track team opened their outdoor campaign with a triangular meet against the University of Southern California, Pacific coast powerhouse, and the University of Michigan, Big Ten indoor runner-up. The meet, held in Berkeley on April 21, proved to be one of historic significance to the college track world. A new intercollegiate outdoor record in the pole vault had already been claimed that day by Harry Cooper of Minnesota who cleared the bar at 15' $\frac{1}{8}$ " at the Kansas Relays. Fifteen hundred miles away, the news spurred the Fighting Illini's Don Laz to even greater heights. He soared 15' $1\frac{3}{4}$ " into the California blue to make Cooper's mark a short-lived one. The all-around strength of the USC team gave them victory in the meet with 75 points while Illinois was second with 41 and Michigan third with 35.

Dual meet victories including a 94-38 decision from Ohio State and a 73 $\frac{3}{4}$ -59 $\frac{1}{4}$ win over tough Michigan State prepared the Illinois squad for the Big Ten Outdoor championship in Evanston, home of the Northwestern Wildcats. Paced by record-breaking performances by Laz and Cirilo McSween, the Fighting Illini displaced defending champions, Indiana, and walked off with first place in the meet with 55 big points.

A cold day and a rain-swept track failed to deter McSween who set a new Big Ten record in winning the 440 in :47.7. Weather forced most of the field events indoors where Laz came through to set a conference and American indoor dirt track record with a vault of 14' 10". Joe Gonzalez added another Illinois first with a win in the 220, with McSween close on his heels in second place, and then took second in the 100 yard dash.

A team first in the form of a victory by the mile relay team of Roger Swank, Stacey Siders, Hunter Gilbertson, and McSween rounded out the list of Illinois first places. Marv Berschet scored a second in the discus and a fourth in the shot put, Dick Reynolds ran third in the 880, Tom Floyd tied for fourth in the high jump and Dick Coleman tied for third in the pole vault to round out the Illinois scoring. Michigan State took second place with 49 points and dropped Indiana, with 32, into third.

A small but strong Illinois entry walked off with top honors in the Central Collegiate meet in Milwaukee, piling up 44 points in the process. Laz and Siders led the Fighting Illini thinclads with first places in the pole vault and 880 yard run, respectively. Victories by McSween in the 440, Siders in the 880 and Laz in the pole vault led the scoring for a Big Ten team which dropped a $77\frac{1}{2}$ - $54\frac{1}{2}$ decision to a Pacific Coast conference team which was loaded with talent in every event. This annual inter-conference battle marked the end of a highly successful Illinois outdoor track season.

Another Big Ten championship was added to the Tribe's collection when Captain Don Laz led the indoor tracksters to victory with a record setting pole vault. The conference win climaxed a decidedly mediocre dual meet season of two wins in four starts.

Proving that their dual meet record was no indication of their real strength, the Fighting Illini track squad piled up 50 $\frac{1}{4}$ points to grab first place in the Big Ten Indoor Championship meet held in Champaign, March 2 and 3. Laz set his Big Ten indoor record in the pole vault with a 14' 8" leap and added a first in the broad jump. Other individual winners for the Illini included Cirilo McSween in the 440, Joe Gonzalez in the 60 yard dash, and Tom Floyd in the high jump. Wayne Nast, Hunter Gilbertson, Roger Swank, and McSween clinched the crown with a victory in the mile relay.

A week later, Laz became the first collegian to clear the magical 15 foot height with a 15' 1" record-breaking effort turned in at the Knights of Columbus meet in Cleveland.

Baseball

With only six veterans returning from the 1950 Illini baseball squad, Coach Wally Roettger performed a major rebuilding job on the team and came up with second place honors in the Big Ten conference. The tribe wound up the season with a conference record of eight wins and three losses, but they actually never had more than slim hopes for the Big Ten crown.

The usually hard-hitting Illini didn't rely too much on their bats in the '51 season. Dick Raklovits finished his senior year with a .349 average to lead the squad at the plate. To make up for the lack of power, however, the Illini had an amazing .978 fielding average as well as some excellent pitching performances. Committing only nine errors the whole season, the team easily won Big Ten fielding honors and had four of the top outfielders in the conference. On the mound, veteran southpaw Herb Agase and sophomore pitching sensation George Maier turned in some remarkably fine hurling jobs. Although Agase with 2-0 was the only Illini with a perfect record, Maier's 5-1 record gave him more wins than any other conference pitcher.

For his outstanding performance, both at the plate and behind it, catcher-captain Bill Hoffman was named most valuable team member. Center fielder and power hitter Lou Krantz was named to captain the 1952 team.

A seven-game Southern training trip highlighted the Illini's '51 baseball schedule. While Illinois won only three of seven games, Roettger was pleased with the initial showing of his young ball club.

Opening the home season, Lou Krantz lashed out a long three-run homer in the eleventh inning to give the tribe a 3-0 victory over Western Michigan. The hit-hungry Illini feasted next at the expense of an over-generous Valparaiso pitching staff, picking up 15 hits to win, 18-0.

Walenga welcomes Parenti home.

The Big Ten baseball season opened at Ann Arbor as Illinois defeated Michigan's defending champions 3-2 on sophomore Maier's five hit hurling job. The Illini followed this right up and whipped the Wolves again, 5-1, this time relying on the tight pitching of Herb Agase, who allowed only two hits.

After losing to a Camp Breckinridge nine in a 2-1 pitcher's duel, Illinois resumed conference play by splitting a twin bill with Indiana. In the first game the Illini handed the Hoosiers their first defeat of the season with a 15-0 trouncing. The next day, however, in a complete reversal, pitching which had been Illinois' strength up to this point was its weakness, and the Illini took their first Big Ten setback in four attempts by a count of 10-6.

The next series saw Illinois bats boom for thirteen hits as the tribe squelched Wisconsin 10-2. Frank Walenga's three for four at the plate paced the tribe in its attack, while Maier allowed only five scattered hits and struck out 14. The Badgers roared back, however, and slipped the Illini a 2-0 shutout in the second game.

A neat 8-0 win over Arkansas prepared Illinois for the next nine days which included six big games. Plagued with poor batting up till then, the Illini pounced on Notre Dame pitchers for a total of thirty hits, winning both tilts, 10-1 and 20-3. Rocky Raklovits led the way in both hitting sprees. Upon resuming Big Ten action, Maier suffered his first conference defeat as Illinois was barely edged out by Iowa 4-3. The Illini, now with a 4-3 record in the conference, saw their title hopes dimming. They hit their stride again, though, as they avenged themselves the next day by defeating Iowa 5-2.

A shutout by Maier and a pretty two hitter by Agase gave Illinois their next two victories over Minnesota, 3-0 and 2-1, and kept alive the mathematical hope of easing Ohio State out of the Big Ten top spot. In their last conference series, the Illini capitalized on an unearned run to down Northwestern 2-1. Maier notched his fifth Big Ten win by allowing only six hits. Championship hopes were suddenly cut short, however, when rain forced a cancellation of the second game against Northwestern.

When Ohio State won their final series, the slender thread which supported Illinois' chances for a Big Ten baseball title snapped.

The 1951 baseball season ended quietly for the Illini as they dropped their last game to Fort Leonard Wood 5-3. Burdette Thurlby, Illinois star of two years ago, played with the service team in this Memorial Day game. Seniors Herb Agase, Bill Hoffman, George Parenti, Dick Raklovits, Don Roseberry, and Ed Zinker finished their careers as Illini.

In Memory of Walter Roettger

On September 15, Wally Roettger finished his greatest game, the game of life. Wally's life was a success in every sense of the word. As Illinois' head baseball coach for sixteen years, Roettger devoted the best years of his life to molding ball players and instilling into the hearts of those with whom he worked the fine spirit of good sportsmanship and clean living which were so typical of his own way of life.

Wally's association with the University of Illinois began back in 1922 when he starred for the baseball team. In 1928 he made his major league debut with the St. Louis Cardinals. While with St. Louis, he distinguished himself in three World Series games with a .286 batting average. Roettger also played with the

N. Y. Giants, Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh.

After his voluntary retirement from the Major Leagues in 1934, Wally returned to his Alma Mater to take over as head baseball coach. With his broad range of experience and his ability to use it to best advantage, it was no surprise that the record books prove Wally Roettger to have been one of the finest baseball mentors in Illinois history. Since 1935, his teams have won 174 games against 88 defeats to give him an outstanding coaching record of .664. During that time five championships fell to the Illini.

It will be a long time before a man who endeared himself to so many varied groups will again tread the Illini trail.

From ninth place to fourth tells the story of improvement written by Coach Buel Patterson's 1951 wrestling team. Shaking off the shackles of ineligibilities and injuries which plagued them the year before, the matmen finished the season fourth in the conference standings. Sparked by Dick Picard and Marty Schwartz, the grapplers turned in a record of five wins, four losses and one tie in their dual meets.

Picard, the captain of the team, lost only one match all season and climaxed this record with the Big Ten championship in the 130 pound class. Schwartz was also a consistent winner and placed second in the 177 pound class in the Big Ten finals.

After dropping their first two meets to Iowa State Teachers' College and Ohio State, the matmen found themselves, and they scored decisive victories over Iowa and Minnesota. It was the Illini's 20th consecutive win over the Hawkeyes. After defeats at the hands of Michigan and Michigan State, the team fought to a 12-12 deadlock with Wisconsin.

Illinois wrestlers remained undefeated in their last three meets with impressive decisions over Northwestern, Purdue, and Indiana. The Purdue meet was highlighted by five Illinois pins, including a 48 second win by Paul Riggins in the 137 pound division. Ray Pigozzi took season honors for the most pins.

Boasting one of the most powerful gymnastics teams in the country, Illinois held on to its Big Ten conference title. Coach Charles Pond hoped to repeat last year's performance by capturing the NCAA crown, too, but the Illini were upset in the national finals and had to be satisfied with a tie for second place.

Although the Illini lost several key men from last year's championship squad, they had no trouble with any of their Big Ten opponents, sweeping through a season of six dual meets without suffering one defeat. Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, Michigan State, Michigan, and Indiana were simply overpowered by the tribe.

Captain Frank Dolan and sophomore sensation Bob Sullivan were particularly outstanding and often placed in at least five events each meet. Selected as the team's most valuable performer, Sullivan took five places in NCAA competition, capturing first place honors in the tumbling event. Wally Cryer, one of the nation's most highly rated trampoline artists, was elected captain for the 1952 season.

The Illini swept to nine consecutive dual meet conquests and then captured the Big Ten crown for the second year in a row. After the battling was concluded in the conference meet held at Northwestern, an Illinois man rested at the top of each division. Atkin won in epee, Quiros was victorious in sabre and Allen Mills topped the foil division

The 1951 swimming team, coached by Ed Manley, opened the season with a victory over Beloit, 59-25. Captain Don Clooney, breast stroke man, Homer Ash, star sprinter, and Fred Lehman, freestyler, were three of the most dependable performers on the team. Lehman, this year's most valuable swimmer, and Benton Jones, distance swimmer, were named co-captains of the 1952 Illinois swimming team.

Following the opening season victory, Illinois suffered three defeats and then came back to win over Nebraska, 50-34. Dual meet competition ended with a record of three wins and seven losses. The Illini had rough going in conference competition and failed to score in the Big Ten meet.

After registering a slate of nine triumphs in ten dual meets, the Illini netmen could gain no better than a fourth place deadlock in the conference championships. The doubles teams of Bob Bennorth and Bob Hoffman, and Lee Bishop and Jim Moses took conference laurels in the second and third divisions respectively. The Illini opened the season with a win over Washington University, and followed it by snapping Michigan's win streak at 26 straight. Then came victories over Iowa, Florida, Ohio State, Indiana and Wisconsin, before the string was ended by a powerful Michigan State sextet. Victories over Northwestern and Purdue ended the season.

Tribe of Illini

The Tribe of Illini is a social organization whose membership is limited to lettermen in varsity sports. The recognized goal of every Illinois athlete is to win his "I" and become a member of the Tribe. New members are selected and initiated after awards are presented in each sport.

The organization was founded to promote fellowship among the I-Men themselves, and to help build good relations between the athletes and the student body.

The Tribe presents a winter and spring formal dance each year, and also sponsors movies of the out-of-town football games.

Officers in charge of the Tribe's activities this year were Mack Follmer, president; Bob Sullivan, vice president; Sam Rebecca, secretary-treasurer; and Joe Cole, corresponding secretary. Three sports were represented in this set of officers, Follmer being a basketball player, Sullivan a gymnast, and Rebecca and Cole football players.

Managers

A working part of every Illinois athletic squad are the team managers. It is these men who, working behind the scenes, perform the many tasks requisite to the successful presentation of every athletic event in which a University of Illinois team participates. Their important and varied duties include overseeing of practice sessions, assisting in the arrangements for team road trips, keeping vital squad records and statistics and helping to maintain high morale, an all-important factor in the performance of any athletic team. Directing these vital functions for each varsity sport is a single senior manager who is aided by two junior assistants and a crew of sophomore and freshman managers.

Senior managers who have been awarded letters in their respective sports this year include:

Keith Baumann	Football
Bob Gaschler	Basketball
Ron Gunn	Track
Bill Hohman	Baseball
Robert Finrock	Wrestling
Richard Cook	Gymnastics
George Searls	Swimming
Howard Robinson	Tennis

Conference Medal Winner

Don Laz, in his four years at the University of Illinois did just about everything that is possible with a 14 foot bamboo pole and a pair of spikes. For three years he paced the field department of the track team—his senior year, he took first place in both pole vault and broad jump in the Conference Meet. His vault of 14 feet, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches established a new Big Ten record. Besides all this, he was one of the better punters the football team has had in recent years.

Athlete of the Year

In his three playing seasons at Illinois, Don Sunderlage piled up 777 points—more than any other Illini hoopster has ever accumulated. In his senior year he averaged 17.4 points per game and had a total of 471 for the season—138 more than the previous individual record. He sparked the Illini to the Big Ten Championship and to the quarter-finals of the NCAA tournament. For his efforts, he was named on the NCAA Eastern Basketball Tournament All-Stars, was guard on the Big Ten All-Stars, and placed on the third team All-American.

His teammates elected Don captain his senior year and then voted him Most Valuable Player at the end of the season; he was given the Big Ten Most Valuable Award, and the student body named him the Athlete of the Year.

Most Valuable Player

Chuck Boerio received the greatest honor his teammates could bestow when they voted him Most Valuable Player of the 1951 football season. This was the climactic award for the man who, from his linebacker position, sparked the Illini for three years—including the Rose Bowl victory in 1952. In a poll of sports editors, Chuck was named on the All Big Ten first team defense. He was a favorite among "grandstand quarterbacks" for his hard tackles and tremendous fighting heart.

Cheerleaders

The Illini cheering squad, with John Underwood as head cheerleader, and girl cheerleaders in the ranks, sparked Illini teams through another successful year.

Somersaults, cartwheels, and other tumbling stunts were a specialty with the cheerleaders, and they introduced several new yells. In addition to leading cheers at the football and basketball games, the cheerleaders took part in many athletic activities and pep rallies.

Bill Hug, in his first year as Chief Illiniwek, continued to boost the interest of ardent football fans by his traditional Indian dance, leadership of "Hail to the Orange," and peacepipe smoking ceremony between halves.

Block I, under the direction of Don Bohrer, thrilled football spectators with their amazing card flip stunts. These stunts were planned in connection with the Marching Band and in coordination with the theme of the game or season.

William Hug, Chief Illiniwek

Intramural Sports

The University of Illinois' Department of Intramurals and Recreational Sports may once more be recognized as having one the finest IM programs in the country. The programs, sponsored by the Athletic Association, consist of almost every type of sport and are directed by several separate, cooperating managerial departments, Intramural, Recreational, and Co-recreational. Under the faculty supervision of Allen B. Klingel and Assistant Supervisor Ted Tedford, the IMREC has an office staff of two, and a student staff of 16 managers, directed this year by Senior Managers Donald Falk and Richard Wilson.

The IMREC Board sets all policies concerning Intramural and Recreational sports. Another duty of the IMREC Board is to settle all disputes of IM contests. This board is made up of the Assistant Supervisor, the Senior and Junior Managers, the chairman of the officials, and representatives from participating Greek and Independent houses. The IMREC Officials Association enables the Physical Education students to get valuable experience as paid game officials.

The University of Illinois makes available to its students and faculty an ample supply of athletic equipment and facilities throughout the week through the IMREC office. The Intramural sports program and Recreational sports are the two main branches of the department. Although the Intramural program is more competitive than the Recreational program, both provide vigorous and healthful competition in almost every imaginable sport. Every sport from football, basketball, and softball to such sports as table tennis, horseshoes, and squash is made available. This program provides organized competition for all students through either organized houses or zoning regulations.

Most of the entry fees charged for participating in the IM and Recreational sports are used to buy the trophies awarded to champions in the league, independent, fraternity, and all-university levels. The large remainder of the expenses of the IMREC programs is made up by the University of Illinois Athletic Association as a part of their service program to provide "sports for all".

The Co-recreational sports schedules are gaining in popularity every year. Since each team is composed of both boys and girls, this program provides social contacts as well as competition.

W. A. A.

Often overlooked behind the University's giant varsity athletic program is the very important and comprehensive sports program for women, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. The W.A.A. members are offered a year-round schedule of inter-house athletic tournaments, similar to the men's Intramural slate. They also work with the IM office on the Co-Recreational sports programs.

The organization awards two trophies each year; one to the house accumulating the most points in team competition, and the other to the house having the best percentage of participation.

Affairs of the W.A.A. were directed this year by Myrna Hale, president; Frances McGovern, vice president; Lucille Muzzarelli, secretary; Roberta Rosecrans, treasurer; and Pat Hutson, sports chairman. Faculty advisor to the group is Miss Helen Wagner.

The Women's Athletic Association offers an opportunity for co-eds at the University to take part in a varied program of sports regardless of their skill or ability. Good sportsmanship and physical fitness are stressed, and it gives girls an excellent chance to get acquainted with other groups having the same interests.

After successfully completing one sport season, a girl is eligible to be initiated; four are required for a pin, six for numerals, and after 12 sport seasons a girl is eligible for her Major I.

The W.A.A. offers not one but several sports for each season, as can be seen from its list of activities. The games undertaken at various times throughout the year include volleyball, badminton, hockey, table tennis, basketball, bowling, fencing, ice skating, softball, archery, tennis, golf, and horseback riding. The organization also sponsors Sports Days, or athletic field days, where all of the sports can be played at once.

P. E. Major Club

The P. E. Major Club is a professional organization for all the women in the Physical Education, Health, Recreation, and Dance curricula. The club aims to promote better feeling between different fields, stimulate interest in all forms of athletics, and offer the girls an opportunity for relationship with others of similar interests and abilities in the field of physical education.

Through professional meetings, convocations, and social activities, the group tries to further cooperation, friendship, and enjoyment. The club sponsors professional speakers in fields related to physical education and discusses problems in the department.

Inter-class competition is promoted and soccer, volleyball, softball, basketball, and hockey tournaments are held for members.

President Jacquelyn Fears is assisted by an executive board of Joan Mieschke, vice president; Doris Lightfoot, secretary; and Joyce Strong, treasurer. Each class also has a representative on the board. Shirley Searcy represents the freshman class; Suzanne Turner, sophomore; Amy Dozier, junior; and Edith Short, senior. The dance representative is Janice Taxey, and Mrs. Lorraine Neilson acts as the group's faculty sponsor.

Parade Ground Units

1261 Euclid

The idea of using the Parade Grounds as a housing unit was under discussion until the Spring of 1946. At that time action was taken to complete it as a housing project for single men. Working on an appropriation from the Federal Housing Association, the University procured the buildings from Camp Phillips at Salina, Kansas. Construction difficulties delayed the opening of the Units until the Fall of 1947.

The Unit is composed of seventy-nine buildings, housing sixteen men each. This area is the largest single housing development on any campus in the United States. As an organized student house, it has no numerical equal.

CHICAGO CAMPUS

The Medical Center

Dr. Andres C. Ivy, vice president, University of Illinois

The 1951-52 school year ranks as one of the most important in the development of the University of Illinois Chicago Professional Colleges. Long renowned for its many contributions in the health sciences, the University added to its stature during the academic year. Many new programs were initiated, and facilities were expanded to permit the University of Illinois to render even greater teaching, research, and public service contributions to the people of the state and the nation.

Campus construction under way or to be started soon amounted to approximately 23 million dollars. The key units are a 400-bed addition to the Research and Educational Hospitals and a new classroom and laboratory building. When completed, they will enable the College of Medicine to increase its enrollment from 166 to 190 per class; Dentistry from 80 to 90; and Pharmacy from 125 to 175. Enrollment in the School of Nursing and the Graduate College will also be expanded.

Through these developments, the University of Illinois will further its reputation as "one of the world's leading institutions in the world's largest medical center".

College of Dentistry

The college of Dentistry was founded in 1862 as a proprietary institution under the name of the Columbian Dental College. In 1901, it obtained a nominal affiliation with the University of Illinois, and in 1913, it was established as an organic part of the University.

The College of Dentistry with the Colleges of Medicine and Pharmacy occupies a block of buildings in the heart of the west side medical center of Chicago. The colleges are allied and the faculties associated. The dental clinics, which have unsurpassed facilities for teaching and research, are in the east unit which was completed in 1937.

Since its inception, the College of Dentistry of the University of Illinois has been in the vanguard of those colleges which have maintained the highest educational standards. The course of instruction leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery is four years in length, with a minimum requirement of two years of credit from a recognized college of liberal arts and sciences.

College of Dentistry

With the fall term of 1947, the College of Dentistry instituted a four year curriculum that marked a departure from that previously offered by this and other schools. The former course of training had witnessed the crowding of all medical science courses into the first two years. The present course of training has spread the medical science courses throughout the entire four years to insure better motivation and more thorough training.

It is the aim of the College of Dentistry not only to train competent practitioners for the community, but to promote scholarly investigation and research with a view toward refining and improving methods of treatment and control.

College of Medicine

The University of Illinois College of Medicine has contributed in many ways to the welfare of humanity since its founding in 1883. After a few years as a private institution, it became a part of the University of Illinois in 1913.

Starting with few clinical facilities, the school has expanded and now includes student clerkships in the University of Illinois Research and Education Hospital, Presbyterian Hospital, Cook County Hospital, and other hospitals in the area. Each year 166 freshman students start their medical training.

The school is well-known, also, for its medical research. Full-time research has been invaluable in the part it has played in the advancement and progress of medicine.

The University of Illinois College of Medicine is still going forward. Further expansion of facilities for training more and better doctors in the future is fast becoming a reality. Upon completion of the addition to the Research and Education Hospital, and the Veterans' Hospital in the area, the University of Illinois College of Medicine will be one of the largest medical schools and will offer training opportunities as fine as any in the country.

Medical Student Council

The student government of the College of Medicine is administered by the Medical Student Council. This group is composed of the class president and three council members elected from each of the four medical classes.

The council is charged with the responsibility of maintaining good faculty-student relationships as well as being the integrating body for matters of general student interest.

Annually the Medical Student Council sponsors the Raymond B. Allen Instructorship Award for the outstanding instructor of each class.

Medical Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council of the University of Illinois College of Medicine is composed of representatives of the fraternities which maintain houses in the Medical Center District. The total membership of these organizations includes more than two-thirds of the total enrollment of the College of Medicine.

Because of the critical housing situation in this area, the Council was first organized informally to assist incoming freshmen to find housing accommodations during the rushing activities. The nature of the academic program made it necessary to concentrate the rushing activities into a relatively short period, and, as a result, a coordinated week of activities was planned. Since then the Council has been the governing body of all rushing activities. Gradually the activities of the Interfraternity Council have been expanded to include social, athletic, academic, and civic enterprises and have been most instrumental in establishing a healthful spirit of cooperation among the fraternities.

The administration of the University has cooperated with this group and encouraged the formation of a self-governing body for the fraternities. In the past year, it has been organized under a constitution and now is recognized as a guiding organization in campus activities.

The Interfraternity Council serves to formulate policies in matters pertaining to all of the member groups and to act in conjunction with the University administration in carrying out policies pertaining to the fraternities.

Pi Kappa Epsilon

Pi Kappa Epsilon has been an active honorary fraternity at the University of Illinois since 1921. The objects of the fraternity are to further the advancement of medicine and medical education through social intercourse and intelligent thought and discussion of medicine and medical problems, and their related scientific, socio-economic and social endeavors. Membership includes male students from the seven medical fraternities and the Independents. Election is by the vote of the sophomore class.

Student American Medical Association

The Student American Medical Association was organized in December 1950 by student delegates from 48 medical schools, including the University of Illinois. It contributes to the welfare and education of medical students, familiarizes its members with the purposes and ideals of the medical profession, and prepares its members to meet the social, moral, and ethical obligations of the profession.

College of Pharmacy

The aim of the program in Pharmacy is to graduate men and women who have a thorough knowledge of drugs, their uses, actions, and doses, supplemented by courses in liberal arts and administration.

During the school year 1951-52, the College of Pharmacy accepted 125 new students out of the total of 337 who applied. Those who were accepted began an integrated four-year professional program comprising two years of liberal arts and sciences plus a specialized theoretical and practical course during the remaining two years. Subjects such as pharmacy, sociology, psychology, jurisprudence, histology, physiology, bacteriology, pharmacology, analytic and organic chemistry combine to make an informed professional pharmacist capable of tendering service and aid to his community.

The periodically expanding program and curriculum are soon to be augmented by a new Dental-Medical-Pharmacy Building on Wood Street, which will house an auditorium, classrooms, research laboratories, undergraduate and graduate laboratory facilities and a complete pilot pharmaceutical manufacturing department. A new Drug Plant Experiment Station, units of which are already under construction, is also planned.

Illi-Sota

Illi-Sota, the Illinois Student Occupational Therapy Association, was organized March, 1944, at Urbana as a campus activity. A year later a chapter was organized at the Chicago Professional campus for those students in clinical training.

The purpose of the organization is to acquaint the students with the work of the occupational therapist, to promote common interests among its members, and to identify them as a professional group.

Six semesters of the ten semester occupational therapy curriculum are taken in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences on the Urbana campus. The remaining four are spent at the College of Medicine on the Chicago Professional campus and at affiliated hospitals. The course was accredited by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association in 1944.

Graduate College

Research, the patient, endless pursuit of new knowledge, stimulated by disciplined imagination, is the life line that engenders vitality into the teaching and service programs of a great university. Unless provision is made for the continual addition of new knowledge by the scholarly achievements of faculty and advanced students, teaching may become routine and uninspired, and services to the citizens of the state may become mediocre. Productive research is the life of the Graduate College in the medical sciences of dentistry, medicine, and pharmacy.

One of the functions of the Graduate College administration is to provide research funds for the faculty in order that they may contribute to the storehouses of knowledge. Another is to attract promising young investigators into the medical science research by approving and awarding fellowships. Working in the laboratories with their major advisors, students carry on studies toward Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees and disseminate to the ends of the earth the inventive skills acquired in the laboratories. New centers for the advancement of medical knowledge are in turn established. Thus, the University, through its Graduate College on this campus, contributes widely to the advancement of civilization and to the general well-being of man.

Chicago Illini Union

The Chicago Illini Union, known as the "living room" of the professional campus, has become the main center for students, faculty, and staff activities. Policies are set up by the Committee on Student Affairs and the Chicago Illini Union.

The success of the Union Building activity programs which have become more and more popular each year is directly due to the planning and initiative of the display, music, and social student committees.

The student display committee schedules weekly displays. This committee has a variety of interesting displays which attract the interest of the faculty and staff as well as the student body.

The highlight of the Union activities is the annual Campus Carnival which is held during the winter quarter. Organizations from all three colleges participate. The carnival represents the top achievement from the standpoint of complete cooperation among the various colleges. Not only students, but also the faculty and staff have shown enthusiasm for the weekly coffee hour. Besides the Carnival and coffee hour, the student social committee sponsors a Fall and Spring Formal, three registration dances, and coke dances throughout the year.

Both social and scientific groups schedule their meetings, smokers, luncheons, dinners, buffets, and dances in the dining rooms and lounges. The soda fountain is a popular spot for students and staff during their few leisure hours. During the noon hours the meeting rooms, lounges, dining rooms, and game room are always filled to capacity.

Lt. Col. Donald B. McAllister, C.O.

Dental R. O. T. C.

The Dental R.O.T.C. unit was organized in September, 1948, and at present has an enrollment of about fifty students. The Corps is open to all first year male students under 29 years of age, if they are physically qualified, and to upper-classmen who are under 31 years of age and are veterans. Upon completion of the four year course, which includes six weeks of Summer Camp, the students are eligible for a commission as First Lt. Dental Corps Reserve of the U. S. Army.

Lt. Col. D. B. McAllister is a graduate of the Kansas City Western Dental College. He served as Dental Surgeon with the 176th General Service Engineer Regiment in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands, and the United States Military Academy at West Point during the war. He received his first commission in the Infantry Reserve from the University of Arkansas and is a member of the Scabbard and Blade.

Major James A. V. Galvin, M.C.

The Medical R.O.T.C. functions primarily in preparing medical students to be Medical Corps reserve officers. Most of the students remain in the reserve, but a few enter the regular corps. Graduates of the R.O.T.C. have priority in being considered for armed services internships and residencies.

Major James Galvin, M.C., U.S.A.F., is a graduate of Albany Medical College and took over the R.O.T.C. after returning from Germany where he commanded the psychiatric center and served as theatre consultant in psychiatry.

John W. Brown, Director of Physical Education

Chicago Campus Physical Education and Intramurals

The sports activities on the Chicago Professional Campus offer students enrolled in the three colleges a variety of team and individual sports. For the past eight years, the activities have been directed by Mr. John W. Brown, instructor in physical education. Facilities at the Chicago Illini Union Building are used to the fullest extent during the year by students' participation in all sports.

The athletic program includes intramural teams in football, volleyball, softball, and golf in addition to tennis and basketball varsity teams. Games are scheduled by the Department of Physical Education for the varsity teams to compete with other colleges on the same athletic level.

Last year's intramural championship trophies were won by the following teams: football, Christian Medical Society; basketball, Delta Sigma Delta; softball, Delta Kappa Sigma; and volleyball, Alpha Kappa Kappa.

A great deal of competition and enthusiasm is shown by those participating in the individual sports. The handball singles championship was won by Edward Klitenick who outpointed William Johnston. George Fricke won over Ernest Feiler for the badminton singles championship and later teamed with Charles Supple to win the doubles. One basket was sufficient to find Richard Roth victorious over Raymond Schleuter in the free-throw contest. A keenly competitive table tennis tournament resulted in a victory for Gerald Michels over Benjamin Mack in the singles. Mack and Schleuter teamed against Frederick Gibson and Gordon Ward to win the doubles. In spite of a rainy season, a tennis round robin was held in which George Fricke yielded the championship to Robert Nelson.

Want excitement? Want to meet people? Want a good job, regardless of your training or talents? Then get into department store retailing! Few careers offer more to those with patience, ability and will. This is particularly true of Block & Kuhl Co.

Progressing from one store, in 1879, into a Statewide, $30,000,000 business with nineteen stores, Block & Kuhl has consistently held to the policy of promotion from within. Key positions throughout the Company are held by persons who have come "up through the ranks." As we continue to grow, we continue to need men and women who are interested in earning while they learn any of the specialized fields that comprise the complex operation of a department store.

Won't you write us, or come in? Our personnel director will be happy to acquaint you with the details, benefits and opportunities that await you at Block & Kuhl's.

Beneath the beauty of every Elgin is the heart that never breaks

YOU ONLY HAVE to see an Elgin Watch to be carried away by its beauty.

But there's more to an Elgin than meets the eye. There's the heart that never breaks: the DuraPower Mainspring.

Elgin guarantees that this mainspring will never break. Neither will it rust nor lose its power.

Is this important? Well, mainsprings are the main cause of watch failure. And every new Elgin, and only Elgin, has the DuraPower Mainspring.

Doesn't all this add up to a trip to your Elgin jeweler's? Very soon? Elgin National Watch Company, Elgin, Illinois.

Every new Elgin, and only Elgin, has the DuraPower Mainspring guaranteed to never break hear the heartbeat of a nation

Hear it in the drone of the dynamo, and the whine of the turbine.

Hear it in the labored groan of the crane,
and in the shriek of the drill.

Hear it in the buzzing monotone of mill and lathe,
and in the resounding boom of the press.

Hear it in the purring power of automobiles,
in the rumble of motor trucks, in the thunder of planes.
Hear it in the cadent click of whirling wheels on rails of polished steel.

Hear it in the roar of the tractor,
in the hungry hum of the combine.
Hear it in the vibrant voices of millions of machines on other millions of farms.

Hear it in the whispered promise of a pregnant earth,
in the song of billowing grain,
in the laughter of a brook,
in the chatter of rain,
in the sigh of a breeze.

Hear it in the concert
of a hundred and fifty million human hearts, beating with an intense belief in man's God-given rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Hear it . . . feel it . . . cherish it.

It's the heartbeat of America.
